Henry, Gromyko Discuss Disengagement

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today in Cyprus' presidential palace, at Gromyko's request, to inform him about American efforts to arrange a military disengagement between Syria and Israel.

A high official on board Kissinger's plane said Kissinger had made "reasonable progress" in his discussions with the Israeli government and hoped to take a revised Israeli proposal for disengagement to Damascus Wednesday. Gromyko has been conferring in Damascus with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

Arabic press commentators were taking the view that Kissinger's attempt to negotiate a Syrian-Israeli disengagement agreement is close to breaking down and that the meeting with Gromyko can do little to salvage his mission unless he can change the attitude of Israeli leaders.

Kissinger flew here from Israel in the midst of extreme security precautions on this violence-racked Mediterranean island and drove through the city in his bulletproof Cadillac which had been flown on ahead—as it was to the Israeli and Arab cities he has visited.

The high American official in the Kissinger party said the meeting was at Gromyko's request. The two men will discuss not only the Middle East but questions concerning President Nixon's scheduled visit to Moscow in June and the limitation of strategic arms.

The high official said that when Kissinger and Gromyko met a week ago Sunday at Geneva it was understood that at best the Soviets would support the American disengagement efforts or at least would not hinder them.

Mideast War story on page 22.

American officials have gone out of their way since the surprise meeting was announced Monday night to deny that the meeting will result in any Soviet American "deal" on disengagement. Kissinger returns to Israel tonight and goes to Damascus on Wednesday.

The American official said that Gromyko proposed the meeting in general terms when the two men met in Geneva a week ago when Kissinger was en route to the Middle East. Kissinger told him then it could not take place in any Arab republic. Sunday night Gromyko proposed Cyprus and Kissinger accepted.

After some initial confusion about where the meeting should take place, Gromyko and Kissinger met at 12:40 p.m. (6:40 a.m. EDT) at Archbishop Makarios' palace—the former residence of the British governor general. The presidential palace is a one story colonial style building surrounded by acres of cypress and pine trees in a residential section of Nicosia.

They sat at an oblong table and Kissinger and Gromyko joked about where the center was, to pose for photographers shaking hands. They placed two red pencils in a line on the table and Kissinger joked, "this is disengagement by handshake."

In any marginal situation, American officials felt that Soviet influence could be important, although they doubted the Soviets could swing the decision decisively in one direction or the other.

Syria has demanded complete Israeli withdrawal from all captured Arab territory as the price for attending the Geneva peace conference. Arab commentators in Beirut have suggested that Gromyko could help Kissinger by getting a joint Soviet American guarantee that complete Israeli withdrawal would be the prime topic in Geneva.

CHANCELLOR WILLY BRANDT

(UPI TELEPHOTO)

Accepts Blame for German Spy Controversy

Brandt Quits Over Scandal

BONN, West Germany (AP) — West Germany's ruling Social Democratic party nominated sharp-tongued Finance Minister Helmut Schmidt today to succeed Chancellor Willy Brandt after Brandt's unexpected resignation.

Brandt, 60, whose "Ostpolitik" policies for East-West détente won him the Nobel Peace Prize during his 4½ years in office, fell victim to a spy scandal on top of state election setbacks for his socialist party.

Foreign Minister Walter Scheel, Brandt's vice chancellor and the leader of the junior partner in the coalition government, took over the caretaker cabinet left by Brandt. He will serve until Schmidt's election by the lower house of parliament.

Heinz Kuehn, deputy chairman of the Social Democrats, told newsmen Brandt himself proposed the 55-year-old finance minister as his successor.

Schmidt was nominated by many, Guenther Guillaume, to take of close cooperation with the United States.

The Market already is going through a period of extreme uncertainty because of the French presidential elections, the British government's demands for renegotiation of its membership terms, disruptive Italian import controls and unresolved strains in the trans-Atlantic alliance with the United States.

West Germany had enjoyed relative political stability under Brandt, but escalating domestic problems could hinder Bonn's efforts toward solving European and trans-Atlantic problems.

Scheel called a cabinet meeting today to discuss the implications of Brandt's resignation. Spokesmen said the Social Democrats and the Free Democrats also would start talks to agree on a new government program by the weekend.

U.S. officials in Washington expressed hope there would be no slipup in the succession of Schmidt, considered a friend of the United States. He volunteered to challenge French Foreign Minister Michel Jobert on behalf of the U.S. government at the February conference of oil-consuming nations, and in March he said in an interview that there would be no permanent split between the United States and Western Europe despite current differences.

Brandt's shock resignation came after mounting pressure on the government by the opposition Christian Democratic Union over the Guillaume affair, the biggest spy sensation since World War II in a country which is a major target for Soviet Bloc espionage.

Guillaume, 47, Brandt's aide for party political affairs since 1972, was arrested April 24 with his wife, secretary of the Hesse state government's office in Bonn.

'Shabby and Disgusting'... Sen. Scott on Tape Transcripts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said today transcripts of private presidential conversations convey "a shabby, disgusting and immoral performance."

Scott told reporters he has read the first 800 pages of the 1,300 pages of edited transcript of taped recordings of Watergate discussions between Nixon and various aides and associates.

Scott said he concluded from the transcripts that there was "not enough showing of moral indignation which would have been expected under the circumstances."

Asked if he was referring to Nixon, Scott said, "I mean by each of those persons (who participated in the conversations) according to what he said."

Pressed for who he meant when he referred to a "disgusting performance," Scott said: "The transcripts will have to speak for themselves."

"I won't go any further than that," Scott said.

Scott said the material released a week ago today by the White House showed "the President is frequently urging others to get the story out," but added he thought the transcripts were "very confused."

"I am enormously disturbed that there was not enough showing of moral indignation which would have been expected under the circumstances," Scott said.

"I think the transcripts represent a shabby, disgusting and immoral performance."

Meanwhile, in an apparent change of position, the White House has indicated willingness to reach an "accommodation" on Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski's subpoena for 64 of President Nixon's Watergate tapes.

Only last week the President's lawyers asked U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica to quash the subpoena and there were reports the President intended to fight it all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary.

But on Monday the White House's chief Watergate counsel, James D. St. Clair, requested a meeting with Sirica, Jaworski and several defense lawyers in the Watergate cover-up case. On the way into the meeting in the judge's chambers St. Clair said the purpose was to discuss "accommodation."

After the meeting Sirica issued a brief statement, saying he had granted a five-day delay in the court proceedings over the disputed tapes "for the purpose of facilitating discussions leading to possible compliance with the subpoena."

Monday was the deadline for Jaworski to respond to the White House's motion of last week to quash Jaworski's April 18 subpoena. Under Sirica's new schedule, the responses will be due Friday with court room arguments next Monday.

St. Clair and Gen. Alexander M. Haig, White House chief of staff, each spoke cautiously on the tapes issue over the weekend. Each said in interviews Sunday that Nixon felt he had made available the full story of Watergate in the 1,300 pages of edited transcripts. But each stopped short of saying Nixon would refuse to provide tapes to prosecutors or to the House Judiciary Committee, which is studying possible impeachment.

PRINTERS TEAR PAPER—Printers on picket line in front of the New York Daily News tear up automation-produced copies of that paper early today (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Daily News... Strike or Lockout

NEW YORK (UPI) — The News has a circulation of approximately two million. Today's first edition of the New York Daily News reached the streets about 10 hours late papers were printed today, but today after a confrontation between printers union leaders and the News that management called a strike and the printers called a lockout.

A News spokesman, Jack Metcalf, said the presses began rolling shortly before 5 a.m. and the 60-page edition was loaded on trucks for distribution at about 5:30 a.m.

Metcalf, the News' special projects editor, said today's first edition, which usually gets out about 8 p.m. the previous evening, was set with the use of automated typesetting equipment that is an issue in the dispute between the printers and the city's three major newspapers.

The paper went to press about two hours after Bertram Powers, president of Typographical Union Local No. 6, and seven other union officials were arrested on criminal trespass charges. About 200 printers on the shift, refusing to handle the mechanically produced type, were ordered out of the building by management.

The News was not known how many papers were printed today, but Metcalf had said earlier it was expected the press run would total about 750,000.

There was no immediate word on when News management and the printers would hold further talks.

To publish today's edition, The News used a photocomposing machine known as the CompStar 191, which produces columns of type on photographic film that is hyphenated and justified by means of a computer.

Computerized hyphenation and justification was forbidden in the printers' union contract with local newspapers. They have been largely restricted to the use of old fashioned typesetting machines which produce type that is set at a manually operated keyboard.

The printers, who have been working without a contract since March 30, 1973, see the new equipment as a threat to job security and are demanding tight contract guarantees against lay-offs.

To protest, they had staged work slowdowns at the News for almost three weeks before today's showdown.

Contract talks with The News, The Times and the Post broke off Monday. The Times has said it would stand by the News, which has been the target of job actions by the printers.

'Stockade Ordinance' Signed

KINGSTON Mayor Francis R. Koenig has signed the so-called "Stockade Ordinance" into law, creating an historic district out of an eight-block area uptown bounded by Clinton Avenue, North Front Street, Green Street and Main Street.

Koenig signed the local law into effect on Friday.

The law treats the eight-block area, in effect, like a single designated historic site, giving the Historic Landmarks Preservation, a seven-member appointive body, full authority over any exterior alterations or new construction in the Stockade District.

The law requires a "certificate of recommendation" from the commission before any work can be commenced. Violation of the law is punishable by fines of $25 a day for each day's violation.

Appeal is through an Article

78 proceeding, where a plaintiff takes his case to State Supreme Court.

According to Alderman Donald E. Quick (D-Sixth Ward), chairman of the council's Laws and Rules Committee, the legislation approved 11-1 by the Common Council and signed into law by the mayor on Friday was the result of a "compromise" between the Laws and Rules Committee and the Landmarks Commission after more than two years of meetings.

Window Victim of Beer Bottle

The Ulster County Court House on Wall Street became the target of two recent attacks of beer bottle throwing as evidenced by the hole in the broken window of the Visiting Judge's Chambers. The bottle was reportedly thrown through the window sometime over the weekend propelling glass across the entire length of the chamber. Another bottle was thrown the weekend before through a window in the first floor front court room. Fortunately no one was in either room at the time of the incidents. (Freeman Photo by Haines)

Highway Items Dominate Hurley Town Board Agenda

HURLEY approved a $1,900 bid by Bus-trailer to haul highway equipment. The Hurley Town Board at a special meeting Monday night approved a bid by Dunn Sales and Service of Hurley to haul highway equipment. The bid was the lowest of seven received.

Highway department items dominated most of the agenda at the special meeting. Superintendent Peter Naccarato was ment about using a stretch of roadside on Route 209 south of Hurley for a stockpiling station. Councilman Henry Paul said he had a building and land on Brink's Lane that could be used for parking a loader and truck during the winter months. Naccarato will investigate and report to the board if the site is suitable for vehicle storage. Naccarato was directed to erect a stop sign on Thomas Street in Rolling Meadows where it meets Jeffrey Lane. The board voted to hold $3,000 now in escrow until Cousins Land Development removes rocks, trees, shale and other debris from the town's right-of-way in the Holly Hills Development off Route 275 between West Hurley and Woodstock. The board approved that communications equipment in Hutton's home be transferred to Judson's home. Sinagar told the board that he was investigating the possibility of voluntary registration of bicycles in the town as a means of reducing theft. The board voted to hold $3,000 now in escrow until Cousins Land Development removes

Onteora Board President Explains Increases in Salaries

BOICEVILLE "In view of the tightness of business affairs superintendent W. Jack Kahn, president of the Ontario Board of Education, has released a statement explaining salary increases paid to district administrators in recent years. The statement is in response to figures released by Mrs. Beverly Britting, a candidate for the school board in this year's elections. Kahn stated that in the 1974-75 school budget, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank M. Marlow will receive a salary increase of $2,725, 7.9 per cent higher than the $34,175 he received in 1973-74.

Non-Teaching Employees Association. He said the salaries are subject to renegotiation next year, at the end of the current two-year contract. "At that time," said Kahn, "the board will be pleased to consider any association proposals in respect to salary increases, inflation, contract provisions etc. In the meantime, the board as well as the association is bound by the contract."

Candidate Cites New Figures

BOICEVILLE Mrs. Beverly Britting, candidate for the Ontario Board of Education, has acknowledged that some of her figures concerning salary increases for district administrators were "imprecise."

"But a recomputation makes my case more telling," she said. According to her figures, the Superintendent's salary will increase 7.97 per cent, instead of "approximately seven per cent," as she had stated earlier. The assistant superintendent, she said, will receive a salary increase of 26.47 per cent, instead of 26 per cent. The business manager will receive a 24.308 per cent hike, instead of 24 per cent. The overall average, said Mrs. Britting, is 19.584 per cent, instead of the 18.66 per cent figure she previously announced. "These new figures further reinforce my contention that salaries paid to aides examination, and that school (building and classroom help board members who support their such inequities should be voted bargaining agent, the Ontario

Assembly Endorses Death Penalty Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Without a whisper of debate, the Assembly endorsed an amended version of a bill to restore the death penalty for the murder of policemen and prison employees. Approval came shortly before 11 o'clock Monday night after a grueling day of debate on other bills.

The Assembly voted last month to mandate the death penalty for the murderers of "peace officers" — such as park rangers, court clerks and numerous security-related public employees—as well as policemen and prison employees. The Senate deleted the peace amended bill and sent it back to the Assembly. The Assembly agreed to the amended bill by the same 94-51 vote as it approved the original bill.

The proposed law would make the death penalty mandatory for the murder of policemen or correctional employees on duty and for life convicts who commit murder in prison or during an escape.

It would replace a capital punishment statute struck down last June by the Court of Appeals. The court held that the statute, which covered the same crimes, left the imposition of the death sentence to the discretion of juries. This violated a 1972 U.S. Supreme Court ruling against arbitrarily applied capital punishment laws.

The bill was sent to Gov. Malcolm Wilson for consideration. Wilson says he endorses the death penalty in "certain cases" but refuses to elaborate.

Education Bill Going to Legislature

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A legislature's Republican leaders reached agreement Monday on the proposal, sources said. It was part of higher education legislation worth $40.8 million. Rank and file lawmakers will be asked to endorse the legislation later this week. The grants would be based on need. The higher the income of the student or his family, the less he would receive from the state.

The top grant of $1,500 would be given to students from families with gross incomes of less than $2,000 a year. The grants decline as the family's income rises.

A student from a middle-income family — a family with a gross income of $2,000 a year, for example — would receive $770 to attend private college.

If the student attends a unit of the State University, the program, which would cost $30.8 million, was designed to narrow the gap between tuitions at public and private colleges in the state. Tuition averages more than $2,500 a year at private colleges. Tuition at the State University is $650 for freshmen and sophomores and $800 for juniors and seniors.

The program would be implemented over four years, beginning with the freshman class this fall.

Kalmbach's Milk Testimony Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert L. Kalmbach is said to have testified that a dairy cooperative leader was asked for confirmation of a $2 million Nixon campaign pledge before milk prices were raised, and House impeachment investigators want to know more about it.

Informed sources say Kalmbach swore he took part in a midnight meeting in 1971 in which a dairy-farmer cooperative leader was told that the administration was going to raise milk price supports, and that the White House wanted confirmation of a promise of $2 million in donations to the Nixon campaign.

Kalmbach told the story under oath to two investigators for the Senate Watergate Committee, Alan Weitz and David Dorsen, and the committee passed the information along to House impeachment probers, the sources said.

The White House has denied that the promise of dairy farmers' money influenced President Nixon's decision to raise prices, although it says Nixon was aware of the $2 million promise, which was made in 1970.

It says Nixon was swayed by political considerations, including pressure from Democrats in Congress who wanted prices up.

Nixon ordered a price increase March 23, 1971, the White House says. The public announcement was made two days later, making the increase official.

On the eve of the public announcement, around midnight of March 24, Kalmbach says he took part in a meeting in his room in the Madison Hotel, after a "Salute to the President" fund-raising dinner attended by dozens of dairy co-op officials, according to the account.

Kalmbach said he heard Murray M. Chotiner tell co-op leader Harold S. Nelson that White House aide John D. Ehrlichman expected dairy farmers to reaffirm their $2 million promise in light of the forthcoming price increase, the sources said. Nelson is said to have agreed, and the next day prices went up.

The sources said that Kalmbach's testimony, which Senate investigators shared with House impeachment probers, provided some of the basis for a letter that the House lawyers sent to the White House April 19.

The letter listed assertions that House lawyers said back up their request for 45 tapes of Nixon's talks about the milk-price matter. The letter alleges that after Nixon gave the order to raise prices, Ehrlichman called White House aide Charles Colson, who has been identified as the dairymen's main contact in the administration. Colson then called Chotiner, and Chotiner told dairymen that Ehrlichman wanted confirmation of the $2 million promise, the letter said.

Dairymen Are Levied $5,000 Fine

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farmers, an organization of Pennsylvania dairymen, pleaded guilty today to illegally contributing $50,000 to President Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

Chief U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr., saying he regarded the offense as a felony, imposed a $5,000 fine on the corporation—the maximum allowed under federal campaign laws.

Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski had filed a criminal information before Hart alleging the illegal contribution was made between April 19 and April 27, 1972.

Unlike other illegal corporate campaign gifts, Jaworski did not charge an official of the dairy co-op with consenting to the contribution. Spokesmen for Jaworski declined to say why no official was charged.

The guilty plea was entered by James G. Rosenberg, who said he was an attorney for the dairy cooperative. He declined to answer questions from reporters, and said the corporation would issue a statement from its Allentown, Pa., headquarters.

Lehigh Valley was the 11th corporation to plead guilty to charges by Jaworski of making illegal campaign contributions in 1972. Federal law prohibits corporations, labor unions and national banks from contributing to election campaigns.

Former Town Bookkeeper Is Charged

GOSHEN, N. Y. (UPI) — The wife of the former Chester town supervisor was indicted Monday by an Orange County grand jury on 28 counts of forgery, grand larceny and tampering with public records.

Mrs. Minnie Minneman was charged with defrauding the town of $10,000 while acting as town bookkeeper during her husband, William's term of office. The indictment charged Mrs. Minneman with nine counts of tampering, five of forgery and 14 of grand larceny during a period from 1969 - 1973, while Minneman was in office.

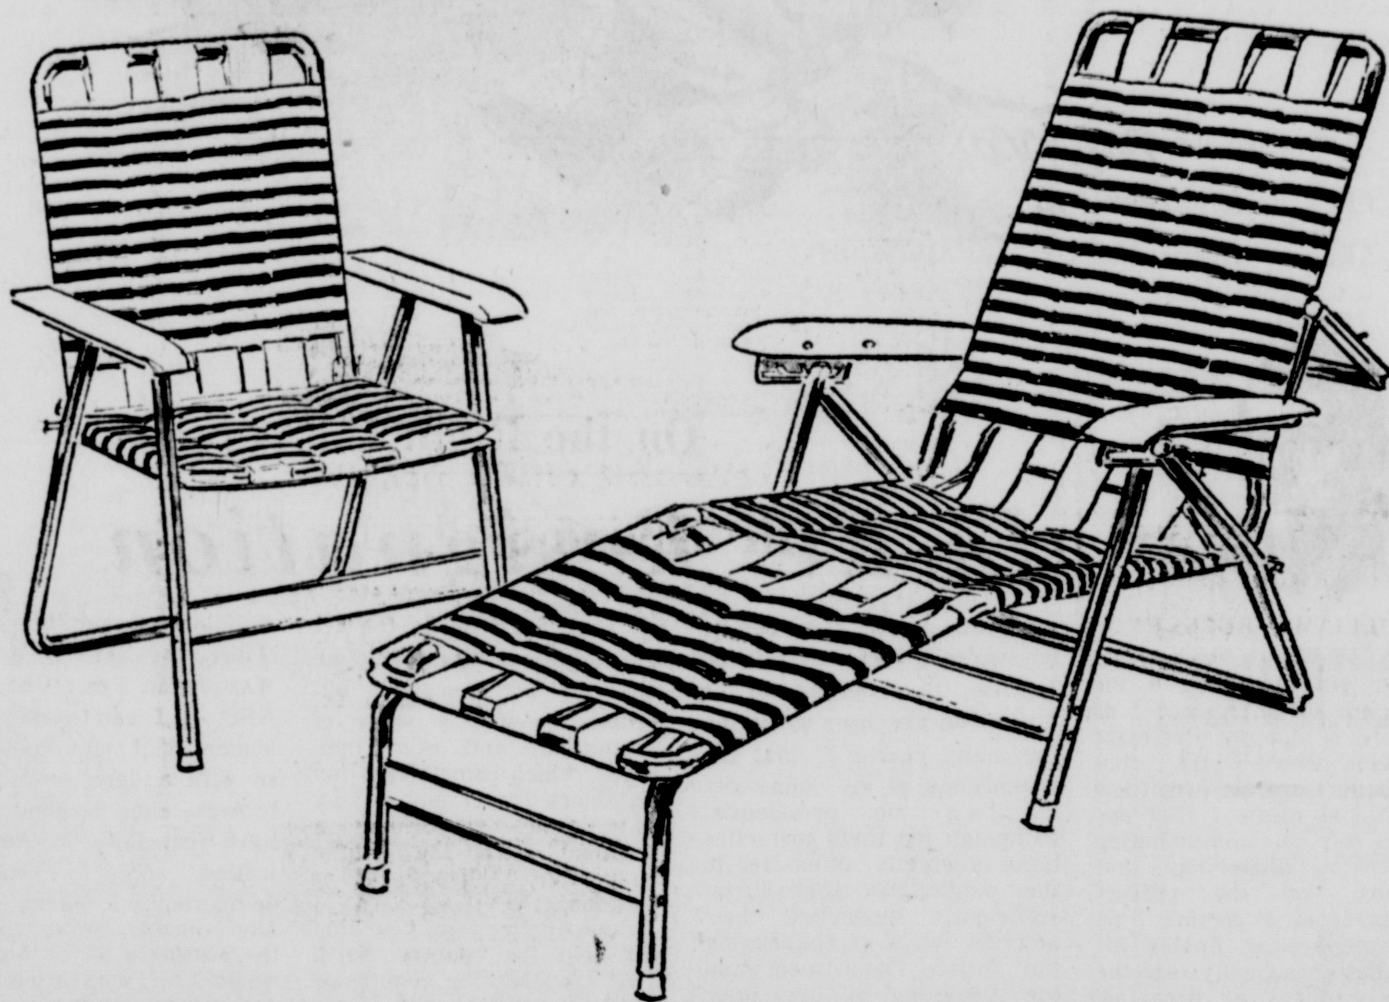

Orange County District Attorney Abraham Weissman said Mrs. Minneman has already repaid the allegedly stolen funds.

Weissman said Minneman was also investigated, but charges against him were dropped due to insufficient evidence.

Mrs. Minneman could receive a maximum 20 years in prison if convicted on all counts.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 7, 1974

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The Central Intelligence Agency switched files on the FBI. We have now learned, in a deliberate attempt to mislead the G-men who were investigating the Watergate break-in.

The agents had discovered from the grand jury testimony that Mrs. James McCord, wife of the Waterbugger, had burned some of her husband's papers after he was arrested inside the Watergate on June 17, 1972.

Files Were Switched by CIA

According to the testimony, someone named Pennington, who had served with McCord in the CIA, had been present at the burning.

This led to a routine FBI request for a CIA file on Pennington, which threw CIA officials into a panic. For Lee Pennington, a CIA consultant, not only had been present but had participated in the burning. A faithful CIA man, he had reported the incident to his superiors.

Pennington later testified that he had driven to the McCord home, as a friend of the family not as a CIA informant, after the Watergate arrest. Pennington found Mrs. McCord burning papers and joined in, although he insisted nothing sensitive was fed to the flames.

The last thing the CIA wanted was to be linked to the Watergate incident. So the CIA sent the FBI a file on Cecil Pennington instead of Lee Pennington. By a coincidence, Cecil Pennington once had also been associated with McCord in the CIA.

Our sources say it was no accident that the CIA furnished the FBI with the wrong file. They claim it was deliberate obstruction of justice.

The FBI quickly recognized that Cecil Pennington had nothing whatsoever to do with Watergate. Still suspicious, the agents asked once more for clarification. But again, say our sources, the CIA dodged.

Investigation Squelched: Distinguished old Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., the Pentagon's foremost Senate champion, intervened to kill an investigation of Deputy Defense Secretary William Clements.

Sources privy to the incident say Clements privately asked Stennis to intervene.

Clements had come under fire from the Senate Commerce Committee for a possible conflict of interest. He owns stock valued at $100 million in SEDCO, a Dallas drilling firm. Yet he has presided at the Pentagon over policymaking decisions with regard to the Alaskan Naval Petroleum Reserve.

His company is a bidder on the pipeline, which would be the likely outlet for oil should the rich Alaskan reserve be opened. Clements has urged that it be thrown open to commercial development.

Stennis asked Senate Commerce Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., to halt the investigation of Clements, claiming jurisdiction for his own Senate Armed Services Committee. Out of Senate courtesy, Magnuson called off the investigation and turned it over to Stennis.

Stennis' office acknowledged that the old man had asked Magnuson to give up the Clements case. After speaking with Stennis, however, a spokesman said he could neither confirm nor deny that the senator had intervened at Clements' request. "He talks with Clements all the time," said the spokesman.

After our inquiries, Stennis hastily put out a statement claiming he had investigated the alleged Clements conflict and had found Clements innocent. Stennis noted that Clements had removed himself from any decision-making regarding the oil reserves.

In an earlier column, however, we printed memos which revealed Clements was still involved in oil decisions after he supposedly had removed himself.

Footnote: Meanwhile, Department documents reveal that the President's cabinet-level Emergency Energy Action Group wants to open the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge "to commercial oil development."

This refuge, which happens to be located next to the oil-rich Alaskan Naval Petroleum Reserve, shelters some of the world's rarest animals on one of the last truly wild frontiers.

The energy group's recommendation, presented in a memo meant for the eyes only of Treasury Secretary William Simon and energy czar John Sawhill, illustrates the Administration's determination to override any environmental concern that stands in the way of energy production.

A battle is now raging in Congress over the issue, with Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., and Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., leading the fight to protect the public interest on Alaska's lucrative north slope.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: The acquittal of former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans caused ruminations inside the special prosecutors' office. Although this wasn't their case, they are concerned about the psychological effect it will have on future Watergate cases. They are particularly nervous over the case against those who burglarized the offices of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. They are trying this as a civil rights case rather than a burglary. Some of the Watergate lawyers fear this is stretching a legal point...

The American Electric Power System, which once urged takeovers of consumer-owned companies through subversion of city councils, is on the brink of gobbling up Fort Wayne's municipal utility. There, the giant firm has promised glistening downtown buildings as a carrot to city voters. Actually, the lease deal probably will mean hikes in the Indiana city's low rates, particularly for low-income elderly and blacks.

Ask Not for Whom the Bell Tolls

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY Jr.

The question is relentlessly asked: Do you believe the President should resign? I do not tire of quoting Professor Kenner, who warns that newspapers are perforce "low definitional media," that one cannot rely on communicating exactly a distinction that depends "on the correct placement of a comma." So this time around, having for three days resignedly read the local headlines at breakfast BUCKLEY ASKS/NIXON RESIGNATION, I put it on the succeeding two days of a lecture tour in this way to the college audiences:

Let us imagine (I said) two approaches by Mr. Nixon to resignation, at opposite ends of the emotional spectrum. Begin with the first. Mr. Nixon appears on television and speaks as follows...

Tonight I address the citizens of America who voted for me in 1972, the gratifying majority who made history. You voted for me intending to serve certain purposes, positive and negative. What has happened in the past 18 months I will not now elaborate on. It is enough to say only 1) that a collision between the Congress and the Executive has been gestating for many years; 2) that the zealotry of my supporters during the presidential campaign led them to tactics quite correctly offensive to the public; 3) that I insufficiently supervised their activity, while 4) challenging the Justice Department and the Congress to use their great resources to get the whole story and accepting personal responsibility, as President, for the department of my staff.

I believe, at this point, that the technical questions of my legal guilt, of my impeachability under the Constitution, are irrelevant to what ought to be my principal concerns. Tomorrow I shall resign my office because I — Richard Nixon — believe that you — the citizens who voted for me — will be better served by my departure from the scene. This is on the one hand a gesture of loyalty to you, whose interests I place above my own; and a gesture of confidence in Gerry Ford, whose competence to serve our goals I affirm by the act of nominating him above all others. I leave without bitterness — with a sense of resignation, and even happiness, which comes from my confidence that I am serving you and exercising a judgment from the unique perspective I dispose of as President.

I know better than you what will help the country, so if I tell you that the country is better off with my resignation, I beg you now, in this case not to challenge my judgment; or to harbor an unproductive bitterness toward my critics, or to do less than cooperate fully with my successor in, to quote the phrase of that predecessor with whom in recent months I have compared myself in certain respects, helping to bind the nation's wounds. Good night.

And at the opposite end... Ladies and gentlemen. After a certain point, no human being can take it. The monopoly media, the bloodthirsty Congress, have won; they have me beleaguered. What with the Justice Department, the Judiciary Committee of the House, the New York Times, Washington Post, CBS, ABC, NBC — I can't take it any longer so I now quit. I do so with a deep sense of bitterness and despondency. I have lost faith in American justice and in American democracy. I cannot make any sincere commitment to the prospects of the American republic. I am through with America, resigning tomorrow. I'm turning the government over to the media. Let's see what they do with it. Good night.

A call for the voluntary resignation of Richard Nixon focuses on the means of disengagement. How is it done? Do you force him out? Or does he volunteer his incapacity? That is the crucial distinction. There are many versions between the magnanimity of the first position, and the bitterness of the second, and the country would, sliding from one extreme to the other, be better off, or worse off, than it is now. Surely this is not too complicated a position to take?

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Myth of Our Meritocracy

which doesn't stand a chance of eventual acceptance. Nevertheless, since he is the last of the great liberal judges, it is worth studying what the man has to say.

He rejects picking one person over another on racial grounds. He will not buy the idea that this generation of whites must make restitution for the deeds of whites now in the graveyard. "The equal protection clause (of the Constitution) commands the elimination of racial barriers, not their creation, in order to satisfy our theory as to how society ought to be organized," he writes thereby suggesting that many affirmative action plans in school and on the job are going to be offed by the courts.

On the other hand, he doesn't see what's wrong with having two standards of admission, one for whites and one for blacks. Indeed, that, he concludes, is how a school can pick students. "In a racially neutral way."

There's nothing cockeyed

about that, if you accept the judge's premise that selecting applicants on the basis of grade point averages and test scores is culturally slanted against many blacks and members of other minority groups. A lot of whites don't. They have been brought up with the notion there is only one right answer to every question, and only those who can spit it out, when asked, should be permitted to move their counter up a space on life's Monotony board.

Careful interviewing of applicants, trying to see who has gone farther under the greatest handicaps or who might make the larger contribution upon becoming a lawyer, that is how the judge would like to see people picked. The old Supreme is right. The only thing that those who score high on aptitude tests demonstrate is an aptitude for scoring high on tests as, in much the same way, consistently high grades are suggestive of overly ambitious mediocrity.

White or black, our custom isn't to judge people but to process applications. A country that calls its hamburger joints Golden Arches is unshakably married to the proposition that merit is discernible through civil service examination. Douglas would have every applicant be considered as an individual, an impossibility among a people who feed their stomachs billions of pre-cooked, mass-produced Big Macs.

Since the whites will continue to make their own lives miserable by judging and rewarding each other on the basis of their proficiency at multiple choice, blacks and others must decide whether they will take a two-standard system — if judges like Douglas prevail. Not that we haven't always had one, but in the past the double standard has meant that blacks and women, or whoever, had to be twice as good as the whites to get in and get ahead.

To the whites, however, the new double standard will mean that a black only has to be half as good, and those who take advantage of it may have to suffer the stigma of being considered second-raters. You're already beginning to hear expressions like "quota bums."

It's unfair, but one of our most dearly held social myths is that America is a meritocracy. For all our incantations about tests, grades and rewarding ability, the best predictor of how much money a kid will make is still how much money his old man makes. High-income parents beget high-income children. Either the game is fixed or some people are born with dollar signs in their genes.

So, Mr. Justice Douglas is right to scoff at claims of unbiased racial neutrality. But few will listen, because in America every man gets what he deserves: the proof being all those black major league baseball managers and star pro football quarterbacks.

Congress and Health Care

Long postponed hearings on a national health insurance plan have begun in Washington with emphasis placed on legislation co-sponsored by Sen. Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), and Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas.

Experts in health care legislation say that for the first time in five years there exists a possibility of adopting a meaningful health insurance this year or next.

It is hard to believe, but the United States is the only major western industrialized nation without a national health insurance plan or medical care program.

There are several bills in Congress on the subject of health care insurance, but the Kennedy-Mills proposal is the most comprehensive. The plan, introduced early this month, is being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee which is headed by Representative Mills.

Mills has talked hopefully about getting legislation passed before Congress adjourns, but it is doubtful if this can be accomplished because of the preoccupation of the House and Senate with other matters, and the looming possibility of a Presidential impeachment session.

Mills was also a sponsor of the Nixon Administration's National Health Insurance Act, submitted in early February. It called for compulsory employer participation while the individual could take part voluntarily. It also included federal assistance for high medical risk families with income under $7,500, and medicare for the over-65. The estimated cost to start the President's plan was about $6 billion.

The proposal submitted by Senator Kennedy was more sweeping. It mandated compulsory participation of all persons, under a program setting out broad benefits, and paid for by payroll taxes and general revenue. Its estimated cost was set at $61 billion.

The Kennedy-Mills proposal is a compromise which added to the Nixon Administration bill and gave ground on Kennedy's earlier plan. Neither Kennedy nor the administration is totally satisfied with the bill.

The Washington hearings are a major step toward the enactment of some kind of national health insurance.

Slow on Vet Job Aid

The Labor Department's shamefully bad performance at helping Vietnam-era military veterans get jobs has been spotlighted afresh at hearings before the Senate Veterans' Affairs Committee. The word comes from the horse's mouth, as it were: William H. Kohlberg, assistant secretary of labor for manpower, told the committee that "we were slow, very slow, in carrying out the law."

Though Kohlberg maintained that the department is now doing better, that remains in question. Certainly the record over the past year is poor.

The committee chairman, Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, had something to say about this: "Despite the statutory mandate for prompt placement, figures show that for the last fiscal year only about 16 per cent of the available Vietnam-era veterans were placed in a job in excess of three days and less than two per cent were enrolled in federal training programs." Anything the Senate committee can do to pep up the Labor Department in this regard will be welcome.

Diplomatic Silliness

Sometimes the rigors of diplomatic usage border on the ridiculous. An instance of this is about to lose us the presence of the prestigious David K. E. Bruce as our representative in Peking.

Though Bruce has been a top-ranking diplomat for many years, he does not carry the title of ambassador because U.S.-Chinese relationships do not yet warrant this. In consequence, he cannot mingle formally with other high-ranking diplomats; he does not receive invitations to formal affairs.

There are doubtless other reasons for Bruce's wish to end his tour in Peking after having served less than a year. He is 76 years old, and he finds Peking to be "not his kind of town." But one primary reason is that diplomatic protocol reduces his status below what he might otherwise expect. And that, like some other aspects of the diplomatic life, strikes us as formalistic nonsense.

NEW YORK (AP) — The mild upswing that began late Monday continued in the stock market today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was fractionally higher, and gainers led losers by close to a 3-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers attached little significance to the gain, noting the extremely slow pace of trading. They said it appeared the market was simply drifting amid the becalming influence of record and near-record interest rates.

Today's Big Board prices included Penn Central, down 1/4 at 21 1/2; Westinghouse Electric, off 1/4 at 17 1/2; Beech Aircraft, unchanged at 8 1/4, and International Telephone, down 1/4 at 20 1/4.

Robbery Attempt Thwarted

TOWN OF HYDE PARK — Dutchess County Sheriff's Deputies thwarted a robbery attempt early today at a Town of Hyde Park grocery when they caught a gun-carrying suspect as he left the store.

Deputies charged Michael Frank, 22, of Albuquerque, N.M., with first degree robbery, first degree burglary, fifth degree possession of a controlled substance and possession of a dangerous weapon.

Deputies said Harold and Elsie Jennings, proprietors of Elsie's Store on Salt Point Road, heard a noise in the basement of the store shortly after midnight. Jennings went into the basement and was confronted by a man wearing a mask who shoved a gun into Jennings' stomach and announced, "This is a stickup," deputies said.

Mrs. Jennings overheard what was transpiring in the basement and called the Sheriff's Department. Deputies caught Frank as he left the store, having taken a quantity of bullets and $20 in cash, authorities said. The Jennings were not reported injured.

Deputies said Frank was allegedly carrying a quantity of marijuana, leading to the drug charge.

Following arraignment, Frank was confined in Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail to await grand jury action.

Ramsey Clark Seeks Dems Nod for Senate

NEW YORK (AP) — Coming out against President Nixon, down in the polls, he's not supporting him. That's why America is making no progress," U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Javits' seat.

In his 1968 campaign, President Nixon criticized Clark's stand on law and order. Clark returned the fire as he launched his own campaign Monday.

He accused Nixon of fostering "a thug mentality in the highest elective office."

"In my judgment, Sen. Javits is the consummate politician," Clark said of the Republican senior U.S. senator of the state.

"He tries to be all things to all people. He's playing the old game. If Richard Nixon goes up in the polls, he supports

Detroit 4 Trial

Defense Lawyer Hits Witness

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON — In an apparent move to discredit the People's case, defense attorney Aaron Klein Monday suggested that he will attempt to prove the chief prosecution witness is "a damnable liar," during the third day of jury selection in the County Court trial of the so-called "Detroit 4."

Four jurors were selected Friday; three were chosen Monday, and one was selected earlier today. That leaves four jurors and two alternates that must be chosen before testimony can begin.

The defendants — Melvin Lemmons, 33, Samuel Allen, 31, Raymond Hardrick, 31 and Marcella Murphy, 17 — are accused of possessing a machine gun, two pistols and a quantity of heroin (valued by State Police at $250,000.) They were arrested March 28, 1973 on the New York State Thruway near the Kingston interchange.

Klein, who represents Lemmons, made several references Monday to the quality of testimony state police witnesses will provide during the prosecution's case.

Klein asked the prospective jurors: "If I show you that the prime prosecution witness upon whom this whole case depends gave private inconsistent testimony under oath in courts of law . . . if I demonstrate that the chief prosecution witness in this case is a damnable liar, but wears a blue or gray suit with a badge, will you promise me that you'll cast his testimony out?"

Klein did not elaborate and he didn't identify who he was referring to.

Defense attorney Joseph Torraca, who represents Hardrick and Allen, also alluded to expected prosecution testimony when he questioned the prospective jurors. "The burden of proof in this case also lies with the arresting officer," said Torraca. He added, "There have been many inconsistent statements by the arresting officer."

Paul Goldberger, the attorney for Marcella Murphy, emphasized that the burden of proof rests with the prosecution. "Please don't expect that the defense has to do anything," said the New York City lawyer. "Please don't hesitate one moment if she (first assistant district attorney Ellen G. Donovan) hasn't proved her case beyond a reasonable doubt."

Goldberger added: "The seriousness of this case is awesome in regards to a 17-year-old girl. This will be the most important two week period in her life . . . If anyone here, I wouldn't for a minute suggest that a police witness should be believed exclusively . . . but don't put them down two or three steps on the ladder of credibility just because they're police officers."

But Ms. Donovan later urged the prospective jurors to "keep sympathy out of your determination." She said, "This case involves a 17-year-old girl. It's a regrettable situation. But she's here and you're here and you have to make a determination."

Ms. Donovan also referred to earlier remarks by Klein and Torraca. "A lot has been said about the incompetency or prejudices of the police . . .

Chicago's Mayor Daley In Hospital for Tests

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mayor Richard J. Daley, last of the big city political bosses, was in the hospital today for tests to identify what reportedly might be an abnormal blood condition.

The 71-year-old mayor, kingpin of Chicago's Democratic organization, went unexpectedly to Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital at midday Monday with his physician, Dr. Thomas J. Coogan Jr., a specialist in internal medicine.

Aides said no announcement on Daley's medical condition would be made until 10 a.m. CDT today because doctors "want to have all the tests completed and want to be thorough" in analyzing the ailment.

It was the first night Daley has spent in a hospital in nearly 20 years as mayor. His wife, Eleanor, whom he affectionately calls, "Sis," spent the night at his side.

The seven Daley children visited their father in the hospital and one son, Richard, brought his father some books. A hospital spokesman said the mayor ate a full dinner.

The first reports were Daley was being tested for hypoglycemia, described as an abnormal decrease in blood sugar level.

Frank Sullivan, Daley's press aide, said, "We emphasize the mayor is not in any intensive care unit. He is resting comfortably and talking with members of his family. From what the family tells me, he is in good spirits."

Daley, who will be 72 next Wednesday, is serving his fifth term as mayor of Chicago and has given every indication he may run for a sixth four-year term next year. His health has been good throughout his 19 years as the city's chief executive and during that time he has missed only one city council meeting, when he stayed home with the flu.

SIGNS PROCLAMATION — T. Robert Gallo (L) acting Mayor of Kingston, presents Mitchell Guss, press coordinator of National High Blood Pressure Month, with a proclamation he signed designating May as High Blood Pressure Month in Kingston. Gallo noted that an estimated 23 million Americans, most of them unknowingly, have high blood pressure, and that it is the primary cause of 60,000 deaths annually. A National High Blood Pressure Education Program has been established to reduce disability and premature death resulting from high blood pressure. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Speed Up Exploration

NEW BEDFORD, Mass.
(AP) — Oil companies are stepping up exploration of the fishing grounds off New England and New York, spending $3 million to search for underwater deposits of petroleum.

A consortium of 48 oil companies has begun a project involving seismic readings on about 15,000 square miles of ocean bottom off Long Island and Cape Cod this summer. A spokesman for the project says that's as much as they have done in the past eight years.

The Northeast exploration, far from land, centers on Georges Bank, one of the nation's most productive fishing grounds. A federal study released last month said the eastern side of the bank is the safest place on the East Coast to drill for oil.

A research vessel operated by Digicon Inc. of Houston has already begun seismic studies of underwater rock formations.

THE PROFESSIONAL STAFF of the Mendelssohn Glee Club includes Carmella DeCamillis, Director J. Anthony Hummel, and Assistant Director Donald Heck, right. They have worked with the 46-member men's Glee Club since mid-January in preparation for the 71st annual concert scheduled for Tuesday, May 14, at Kingston High School. (Shellenberger photo)

Mendelssohn Glee Club is ready to stage its annual tribute to spring with a concert in Kingston High School auditorium Tuesday, May 14, at 8:15 p.m. Admission is free, compliments of the club and its patron members.

The program will be lighter than in the past seasons. The Club will open with a rousing rendition of "Brothers, Sing On" by Edvard Greig. The balance of the program will include several old favorites: Beethoven's "Hallelujah Chorus," a number of spirituals, including "Steal Away," a portion of the "Majestic Suite" by Randall Thompson, based on the letters of Thomas Jefferson and an arrangement by the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBSQA), "Give Me That Barbershop Style."

Guest soloist, Barbara Hardgrave, will sing two groups of art songs.

The public is invited to attend the concert and may do so by obtaining complimentary tickets from any Glee Club member, from Abrams Music Store in Kingston, or by contacting club officers. They are Dick Uhler, Bill Lanier, Harrison Cornish, Jack Hill and Ed Sprute, all of Kingston.

The roster of the Mendelssohn Club includes residents of Red Hook, Rhinebeck, New Paltz, Fishkill, Poughkeepsie, as well as Kingston. The are:

First Tenors: John Breithaupt, Ed DeHoff, John Gumaer, Bob Gilmore, John McCullough, Bill Roosa, Adolph Schulze, Chuck Selzo, Second Tenors: Bob Bickle, Tony Colle, Ed Decker, Frank Elmendorf, Dan Kelley, Ray Meyers, Phil Rappleyea, Warren Simmons, Bill Wood. Baritone: Dave Brush, Nelson Burhans, Fred Brammer, Gary Carlson, Harry Cornish, Ron Glassbrook, Gary Hudler, Len Hershoff, Bruno Krueger, Ed Lamont, Bill Lanier, Al Lutters, Al Plonsky, Jack Hill; Basses: Aaron Bell, Glenn Bickertstaff, Bill Brandt, Ben Cornish, Bill Dederer, Andy Hummel, Ron Heck, John Lathrup, Euclide Marchetti, Newell McWilliams, Ted Olsen, R.T. Shellenberger, Ed Sprute, Dick Uhler, Paul Whitten.

The Music Department of Ulster County Community College will present an afternoon of light instrumental and vocal music at the Stone Ridge campus on May 12, Mother's Day, at 3:30 p.m. The concert will be performed in Quimby Auditorium in Vanderlyn Hall. There is no admission charge.

Matthew Crisp, associate professor of music and director of instrumental music, will conduct the Wind Ensemble in a variety of instrumental compositions of the contemporary period. Of special interest will be two small groups: UCCC Woodwind Quintet and UCCC Brass Sextet, performing works of the 20th and 16th centuries respectively.

The College Chorus under the direction of Dr. Richard Olsen will perform several short works ranging in style from Randall Thompson's "Alleluia" to familiar songs by Jerome Kern.

The Wind Ensemble will join the singers for a concluding medley of American folk songs which will include "Santy Anno," "Fennario," and "Old Joe Clark." Arranger Charles Gross calls it a "fun piece" embodying "total involvement." The audience will be invited to join the singers, wind instrumentalists, guitarists, and banjo players in the finale.

"Bring your mother to the College for Mother's Day," a college spokesman says.

The Women's Choral of the State University College at

LEE H. PRITCHARD

New Paltz will present its 74th Annual Spring Concert Wednesday in McKenna Theatre at 8:30 p.m.

The festive program will include works by contemporary American composers including Paul Hindemith and David Diamond, with settings of poetry by E.E. Cummings and George Tyler.

Also included will be a group of Sacred Rounds and Canons by 18th century composers including William Boyce and Samuel Webbe. Featured on the first part of the program will be Polly Beynon Pritchard, currently organist and Director of Youth choirs at Trinity United Methodist Church, Poughkeepsie, and Director of Vocal Music at New Paltz High School.

Mrs. Pritchard will accompany the Choral in a performance of Benjamin Britten's Missa Brevis in D. During the 1962-63 season Mrs. Pritchard studied organ with Flor Peeters at the Royal Flemish Conservatory of Music where she learned many of Peeter's works for organ under his guidance. The Britten Mass was written for the Westminster Cathedral Choir in 1959.

Mrs. Karen Pone will be featured in the second half of the concert playing the Little Suite for Piano of Arnold Sturms. Written in 1962, the contemporary Suite contains four sections for piano. Karen Pone holds the MA degree in Piano and Musicology from the University of Minnesota. She maintains a private and class piano studio in New Paltz.

Other composers on the program will include Bernhard Heiden's Two songs of Spring, and three Choruses from "Alice in Wonderland" by Irving Fine.

Lee H. Pritchard, assistant professor of music at the college, returning after a two year teaching fellowship for doctoral study at Indiana University, will conduct the Choral. He is also Director of Music at Trinity Methodist Church, Poughkeepsie, and conductor of the Mid-Hudson Camerata Choral.

The public is invited to this festive concert without charge. There will be no reserved seating in McKenna Theatre.

Community Concert Campaign Week Is Launched in County

This is Community Concert Week and a dedicated staff of volunteers are taking it upon themselves to tell the good word of an exciting series of concerts to be presented for the 1974-75 musical season.

Throughout the entire Hudson Valley captains and workers are making calls and distributing materials announcing that the New Christy Minstrels will be headlining a stellar series that will include the Warsaw National Orchestra and Shigemitsu Matsumoto, Japanese-American born singing sensation.

The New Christy Minstrels have without a doubt become a household word the length and breadth of the nation. The group originated in 1961. Since then, they have virtually surpassed every major milestone of professional achievement. Even more important, they continue to entertain audiences throughout the world as one of the most exciting and versatile acts in all of show business. They will appear in Kingston for members of the Community Concert Association and are touring under the aegis of Columbia Artists of New York and Hollywood.

Since the beginning, the producers of this group have encouraged the young artists to present the finest programs possible. Multi-talented singers and instrumentalists have continuously brought freshness and spontaneity to listening audiences. In the course of a decade, the New Christy Minstrels did it all . . . recording, television, concert tours. Their single recording of "Green Green" sold over three million copies. Three Columbia gold albums were to follow. Early recording success lead to a weekly television show on NBC and the message of good entertainment was played into homes all over America.

This was followed by a host of personal appearances, and to date an estimated 45 million people have applauded this fantastic group in live performances in virtually every country of the world. Most recently, the Minstrels have traveled to Japan, Australia, Rhodesia, South Africa, Germany, Italy, Canada, Vietnam and Thailand. Musical history was made by this group when they became the first American artists ever to win the famous San Remo Folk Festival . . . with a resulting sale of over 600,000 records of the winning song.

Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon each invited the New Christy Minstrels to perform at the White House on several occasions. In 1968, the Minstrels were honored with a Command Performance for the Queen of England.

Guest appearances with such personalities as Bob Hope, Danny Thomas, Vikki Carr, The Fifth Dimension, Alan King are always highlights of the busy Minstrel schedule.

These young people continue to deliver exciting performances for it is their belief that audiences appreciate good entertainment.

Anyone interested in obtaining memberships may do so by contacting Mrs. John McCullough, membership secretary, Mrs. George Wert, campaign chairman, captains or workers. A special headquarters has been established at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the convenience of the public.

Entrance to all concerts is by membership card only. No single admissions are ever sold for individual concerts. Memberships must be obtained this week only. Adult memberships are $12; students $5 for the entire series.

Smalldon - Fox Nuptials

Immanuel Lutheran Church in Kingston was the setting for the wedding of Kathleen Helen Smalldon of Kingston and George Leonard Fox of Burlington, Vt. The Rev. Gary Mehl officiated at the ceremony Saturday, Apr. 27. Charles Brand, organist, provided wedding selections.

MRS. GEORGE LEONARD FOX (Kathleen Helen Smalldon) (Reynolds Studio)

The gown was embroidered with seed pearls and lace appliques and featured a cathedral train. Her lace camelot cap held a short illusion veil and she carried a nosegay of yellow roses, daisies and ivy.

Nancy Emm of Syracuse and Mrs. Robert Galley of Lincoln, Neb., cousin of the bride, served as maid and matron of honor, respectively. Miss Emm wore a pale green dotted swiss gown and Mrs. Galley was gowned in pale lavender. They carried baskets of daisies and yellow roses. Wreaths of daisies served as their headpieces.

Junior bridesmaids were Amy Smalldon, sister of the bride, Kingston, and Shireen Eckhardt of Burlington, Vt. They wore pale green dotted swiss gowns with daisy wreaths and carried baskets of daisies and yellow roses.

Bruce Donaldson of Burlington, Vt. was best man. Ushering were William Eckhardt of Burlington Vt., and Robert Galley, cousin of the bride, Lincoln, Neb.

A reception was given at the home of the bride. Mrs. Fox attended Kingston schools and Rogers Hall in Lowell, Mass. She was awarded a Child Technician Diploma from St. Catherine's Infant Home in Albany and was employed as a licensed practical nurse at St. Peter's Hospital in Albany.

Her husband was graduated from Middlebury elementary and high school and attended Parsons College, Iowa. He is manager of Point Bay Marina in Charlotte, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox will reside at 55 Isham Street, Burlington, Vt.

Hubby's Pick-Up Should Pick Up After Herself!

DEAR ABBY: To begin with, my husband has always been a big liar. Last summer I found a pair of nylon panties under the seat of his pickup truck, and when I asked him where they came from and what they were doing there, he said they were probably mine and he was using them for car rags. I told him I didn't wear that kind and they didn't make very good car rags and I gave him something else to use.

I forgot all about it until yesterday when I came across another pair of panties in the glove compartment of his pickup. This time I knew for sure they weren't mine because this pair had "Wednesday" on them. Abby, I know he can't be that desperate for car rags.

What do you suppose is going on? I hope you print this because I'd like that hussy my husband has been fooling around with to know she forgot to pick up "Wednesday."

NOT FOOLED

IN STAUNTON, VA. DEAR NOT: If your husband intends to continue picking up in his pickup, he should tell his friends to pick up after themselves — and that means Monday through Sunday!

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who claims she can analyze a person by his physical characteristics.

For example, she says a high forehead is a sign of superior intelligence and a low forehead is a sign of average or below average

Dear Abby
BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

intelligence. (She has a high forehead. Mine is low.)

She also says that people with long, narrow thumbs have a natural advantage over people with short stubby thumbs because long narrow thumbs mean you are dependable, friendly, and easy to get along with, but short stubby thumbs mean you are irresponsible, unfriendly and hard to get along with. (Her thumbs are long and narrow. Mine are short and stubby.)

I would like to prove her wrong about her thumb pronouncements but don't know where to find proof, so I am writing to you.

DISBELIEVING

DEAR DIS: Since she made the "pronouncements," ask her to prove it. As I see it, the only natural advantage the narrow long thumb has over the short stubby thumb would be in hitchhiking.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my neighbor who lives directly above me in an elegant townhouse apartment building on the chic east side of Manhattan.

This gentleman lives alone, and gets up every morning of his life at 5 a.m. This includes Christmas, New Year's Day and Sundays. He makes noise which lasts until 7 a.m. I don't know exactly what he does, but it sounds like he's exercising, rolling on the floor or jogging in one place. All this in his bedroom, which is over mine.

I don't have to be out of bed until 7 a.m. and it irritates me to be awakened two hours early every day. Once I am awake, I cannot go back to sleep.

I've tried everything. I invited him here for a Christmas party, and then gently took him aside and told him that his early rising morning noises bothered me. He said all he does is "get dressed" and he can't understand how that could disturb me.

I talked to my landlady and she said she has only my word, and she can't demand that he leave before his lease expires in three years. My lease has another year to go.

Please don't suggest I try to make friends with him again. It's gone beyond that stage now. I saw my lawyer at a party recently and he suggested I phone this neighbor every morning at 3 a.m. and ask him how he likes to be awakened two hours early every morning. Please, please help me. My nerves are shot.

MRS. S. DEAR MRS. S.: I'd take the lawyer's advice, after which I'd ask my druggist to recommend the best earplugs available. If that fails, invite your landlady to spend the night with you, and share a rude awakening.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon., thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

The group's annual banquet is set for June 13 at Beekman

Arms Hotel in Rhinebeck. Mrs. Robert Varrell is handling reservations.

A report was given on the recent Ulster County Home Extension luncheon at Wildwick Village. Members in attendance from the Sawyer group were Mrs. Cyr, Mrs. McCann, Mrs. Edmunds and Mrs. LaSusa. Highlights of the Simplicity Fashion Show staged at Hurley Church were given by Mrs. Roy Heilmortel. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Raymond Scally and Mrs. Frank Leone.

The April workshop meeting took place at the home of Mrs. Larry Rittmiller, Saugerties. Mrs. Edmunds and Mrs. Cyr gave a craft demonstration of decollage which gives a simulated antique leather-look to bottles. The next meeting will be a covered dish supper at the home of Mrs. Robert Varrell.

50th Wedding Celebration Held

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers of Kingston were honored with an open house party on their 50th wedding anniversary in April at their home, 77 Stephan Street. The event was hosted by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Vaughan of Stone Ridge.

Married in Immanuel Lutheran Church by the Rev. Frederick Schroeder, they were attended by Mrs. Gretchen Freer of Haskell, N.J., and Clifford Finley of Port Ewen.

Many relatives, friends and neighbors attended the event.

Bride's Timetable

(SIX WEEKS BEFORE THE WEDDING)

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1974 The Emily Post Institute, Inc.

With only six weeks to go until your wedding, half the time has already gone by since you started keeping your bride's timetable, and now you should add these two items to your checklist:

1) Make housing arrangements for out-of-town attendants and guests. Ideally, they should be put up with relatives and friends, but this is not always possible. If they must be lodged, costs for the bridesmaids are paid by the bride and costs for the ushers are paid by the groom. Guests, whether relatives or friends, pay for their own lodging unless either family offers to assume the expense. The important thing is for the bride to reserve the accommodations sufficiently ahead of time to insure comfortable rooms at a convenient location.

2) Decide on the menu for your reception. For a small group at your home after the ceremony you might choose:

Assorted sandwiches

Wedding Cake

Coffee — Fruit punch (made with or without liquor)

For a semi-formal reception at home or in a club, the fare would be somewhat more elaborate:

Seafood Newburg

Tomato aspic ring filled with

chicken salad

Rice Pilaf — Mixed green

salad

Assorted rolls

Ice Cream and/or sherbet

Wedding Cake

Coffee — Champagne

Finally, for a seated dinner a complete meal is in order:

Vichyssoise or green

turtle soup

Rock Cornish Game Hens

or

Filet Mignon

Shoestring potatoes

Spinach on artichoke bottoms

Parker House Rolls

Fresh strawberries and sour cream

Wedding cake

Coffee and liquors

Champagne

Obviously these menus are only suggestions. The best idea is to follow the recommendations of your caterer or club manager who knows which dishes he can prepare best and which have proved to be the most popular.

Next week I will discuss several more items to be added to your checklist five weeks before your wedding.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman, and don't forget to include your name and address.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Many people save their soap slivers, when the bar gets too small to use, in an old nylon stocking. But, I wonder if they have ever thought to hang one of these stockings on an outdoor faucet?

It gives a quick clean-up before you come in after gardening and, better still, children seem to like the idea of washing their hands this way. Sure cuts down on dirty little fingerprints on the woodwork.

One Who Knows

Dear Heloise:
After the death of my husband, my son wrote a "Eulogy" about his father.

It brought so much comfort to me and my family, I thought I would share part of it with you.

"He was a creative man. He was a seeker: a man who looked closely at life and who looked forward to each tomorrow as the day he would grasp the secrets of existence. To his acquaintances he was a kindly man; to his friends he was a friend; to his family he was all things."

Beef chuck, canned vegetables and wide noodles make quick stew.

Easy French Stew

By AILEEN CLAIRE

Students and young couples who like to entertain with a buffet will appreciate an Easy French Stew with Noodles. This requires, primarily, a good can opener and the patience to wait for the mixture of vegetables and meat to simmer for proper blending. Serve with a hearty salad and crisp bread.

Easy French Stew With Noodles

One can (16 ounces) whole tiny carrots, undrained

One can (16 ounces) white onions, undrained

One cup Burgundy wine or beef bouillon

One can (10 1/2 ounces) cream of mushroom soup, undiluted

One cup water

One package (one and three-eighths ounces) dried onion soup mix

Two pounds chuck, cut into one and one-half-inch cubes (trim off fat)

Three-quarter cup whole pimiento-stuffed olives

Six ounces uncooked wide egg noodles (about three cups)

In large heavy pot or Dutch oven, blend together the liquid drained from carrots and onions, wine, mushroom soup, water and soup mix; stir in meat. Bring mixture to a boil; cover and simmer 2 hours or until meat is tender, stirring occasionally. Stir in carrots, onions, olives and uncooked noodles. Bring to a boil; cover and simmer stew until noodles are tender, about 15 minutes. Stir occasionally. If necessary, add additional water to stew during cooking period to achieve proper consistency. Makes 6 main dish servings.

Pollster Figures Against President

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Forty-two per cent of the people who viewed or read about President Nixon's television address last week on the Watergate transcripts now have a "less favorable" opinion of him, according to the Gallup Poll.

A special telephone poll of 694 adults also showed that 17 per cent were left with a more favorable opinion. Thirty-five per cent said their opinion had remained the same, but there was no way of determining how this group felt about the President. Six per cent offered no opinion.

The poll also showed that, by a 44-to-41 per cent margin, Americans believe there is enough evidence against the President to bring him to trial before the Senate.

However, by a 49-to-38 margin, the national sample said it didn't believe the President's actions at this time warranted his being removed from office.

The special poll was taken to measure public response to the President's defense of his refusal to surrender 42 tape recordings of White House conversations to the House Judiciary Committee. Instead, Nixon provided edited transcripts.

Hughes Money Missing Link In Watergate

NEW YORK (AP) — Senate investigators believe the case of the two $50,000 Republican "campaign contributions" by billionaire Howard Hughes supplies the missing motive for the Watergate break-in, the Wall Street Journal said today.

The Journal said the investigators contend that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell "tampered with" a case involving the Dunes Hotel of Las Vegas "and that fear of discovery of the facts led to the Watergate break-in mission" in 1972. Mitchell denies this.

The Journal said that the money had been given by Hughes to Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo, one of President Nixon's closest friends, soon after favorable government action on Hughes' proposed purchase of the Dunes. Hughes never bought the hotel.

The paper said that Senate investigators now believe that Mitchell was afraid Lawrence M. O'Brien, then the Democratic National chairman, knew about the Dunes case and the Hughes donation because he had been a public relations consultant to the Hughes organization. O'Brien says he was unaware of the transactions.

Richard Danner, a Hughes executive, testified Friday in Los Angeles in a suit involving two factions of the Hughes organization that he gave Rebozo the $100,000 in 1970 in two installments of $50,000 each. But Danner said the money was to be used for Republican congressional candidates, not Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign.

The Journal said Danner and Mitchell met prior to the contribution to discuss Hughes' acquisition of the Dunes and the antitrust aspects involved. Asst. then head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, had already informed Mitchell that the purchase would violate the government's merger guidelines, the paper said.

The Journal said that soon after Danner's meeting with Mitchell, Hughes got "a high-level go ahead."

Rep. Gilman Calls for Ceiling Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman, R-N.Y., called Monday night for an increase in the ceiling on outside income for Social Security recipients from $2,400 to $7,500 a year.

"This archaic ceiling on outside income not only imposes an onerous burden on the recipient, but also removes a highly productive group of individuals, our senior citizens, from the national work force," Gilman said.

He said many senior citizens have skills and a desire to enrich their lives through productive employment, "but are prevented from doing so by the present unrealistic earning limitations."

Gilman said he already has 24 congressmen behind his proposal, which would prevent a reduction of Social Security benefits for individuals earning up to $7,500 a year.

By a ratio of more than 2-to-1, Americans said the Judiciary Committee was right in its decision to reject the transcripts as a substitute for the tapes. On this question, 62 per cent agreed with the committee, 24 per cent disagreed, while 14 per cent had no opinion.

In answers to "Whose statements about Watergate are you more inclined to believe, John Dean's or President Nixon's?" Nixon edged Dean 38 to 36 per cent, with 26 per cent having no opinion.

A second Gallup study showed that Republican party affiliation is at an all-time low — 24 per cent — with 42 per cent describing themselves as Democrats and 34 per cent as independents.

In terms of political philosophy, 38 per cent consider themselves conservatives while 26 per cent place themselves in the liberal camp and 36 per cent are undecided.

The proportion of conservatives is the highest recorded since the question was first asked by Gallup in 1936. Meanwhile, Time magazine said a poll taken for the magazine just before Nixon's announcement that he would release the transcripts showed a jump in the number of Americans who want the President to resign or be impeached.

Time said 55 per cent of those polled by the Daniel Yankelovich organization wanted Nixon out. The figure compared with 39 per cent in a similar poll last November and 30 per cent last August.

Radicals Give Reactions To SLA Hearst Kidnaping

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Paranoia. Suspicion. Conspiracy. Hatred. Apathy. There are a lot of words used by American radicals in reaction to the Symbionese Liberation Army, which says it kidnaped Patricia Hearst and assassinated Oakland Superintendent of Schools Marcus Foster. Few are favorable. Here are two: "The Nixon Administration would like nothing better than for us to believe these are the kinds of things revolutionaries and community activists do," said Janet Cooper, a West Coast radical activist. "There is no doubt that the SLA is a CIA front." — The National Caucus of Labor Committees. Left-wing antipathy for the SLA comes from just about every group of note except the almost nonexistent Weatherpeople. One of their leaders, Bernardine Dohrn, said from hiding that the group's actions were revolutionary and thus could "teach and strengthen."

The disdain covers a spectrum from activists in Berkeley who have elected four radicals to the city council; to traditional Communists like Angela Davis; to old new leftists like Jerry Rubin; through the newer National Caucus of Labor Committees, which thinks just about everyone is a front for the CIA; to Maoists; to the Black Panthers, who say chairman Huey P. Newton is on the SLA "hit list" for denouncing the Hearst kidnaping and the Foster shooting.

There are a number of themes in the denunciation: that the violence of SLA actions can't be justified morally; that members of the SLA are radicals-come-lately; that they may be government agents, and that if they are not, they are seriously discrediting the radical cause.

"My overwhelming response is that I'm sick of the whole thing," says an unsuccessful candidate for the Berkeley City Council last year on a radical coalition slate. "Politically, they make no sense at all. None of these people were political here. And it's been a very destructive thing. They're stopping people on the street and interrogating them. It's just very bad."

The paranoia seems to run deepest in Berkeley, where Miss Hearst was abducted last Feb. 4.

Soon after the kidnaping, police raided a Black Panther headquarters in nearby Oakland, arresting 15 people but filing no charge. It made many radicals believe that the Hearst and Foster cases have given authorities an excuse to go after the newer community organizations.

"It's not good having 150 FBI men in Berkeley," says a woman active in consumer and women's groups. "While they're here, they might just decide to branch out into other things."

Ramparts Magazine, one of the best-selling leftist publications, devoted eight pages in its May issue to a denunciation of the SLA, which it said had created "sympathy for the ruling class, credibility for the police and paranoia for the radical movement."

Nearly everyone involved with the left mentions reports that Donald DeFreeze, who has been identified as General Field Marshal Cinque of the SLA, served as a police agent. Authorities deny that.

One of the recurring themes among radicals is what they see as the lack of solid, left-wing credentials among SLA members.

They note that as recently as 1970, DeFreeze was essentially an apolitical product of the prison system. And Berkeley activists say the people who have been linked by authorities to the SLA had little to do with the radical community there.

One woman noted that she had been in a woman's group with Michelle "Mizmoon" Soltsysk, who has been identified by the FBI as one of the participants in the SLA bank robbery in San Francisco in which Miss Hearst took part.

"I liked her really, although I didn't agree with her all the time," says the woman, who asked that her name not be used. "But she wasn't really political in the sense of looking at the whole society. She was into the woman's movement and community things like food co-ops. It's all quite strange."

The dislike for the SLA's methods runs deep.

H. Bruce Franklin, a former English professor at Stanford University, was one of the founders of the Venceremos Brigade, a now-defunct Maoist group. He says the group's violence can only hurt the left.

"When a few imposters like the SLA come along — revolutionaries who conduct themselves in an inhumane manner — all they do is turn people away from looking to a revolutionary alternative for the solution to problems."

And Janet Cooper, a former Stanford activist who declined to talk to a grand jury questioning her about alleged contacts with SLA members, said the group's "idea of revolutionary activity seems to be kidnapping young women and shooting people down at random on the sidewalk."

One Bay Area radical, an economics instructor at San Francisco State, puts it in a way that sums up the feeling:

"I've had a few people in class who justify it by saying that society drives people to desperate actions. But Charles Manson took desperate action against upper-class people. Does that justify him?"

Kimpel Questions Priorities

KINGSTON
"Instead of concerning himself with bread and butter legislation to improve the economic level of the area, the incumbent State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th Dist.) continues to indulge in dogmatism, shooting from the hip and pointless debate," Helmut Kimpel, candidate for the GOP nomination for the Senate told a group of young Republicans in Kingston recently.

Speaking at a meeting of the Ulster County Young Republican Club at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, Kimpel charged Schermerhorn with "a most unproductive performance in representing the needs of the people of Ulster, Orange and Rockland counties."

"We are in a recession. We have record inflation in the Mid-Hudson area. We have high unemployment and expanding welfare rolls, and we have tax bills that are becoming impossible for the average citizen to pay," Kimpel said.

"Sen. Schermerhorn has not used his office to help lessen the burden on the average citizen, or to promote jobs and industry. In fact, his record shows just the opposite," Kimpel charged. "It shows that he is the captive of special interest groups."

"Last year, he opposed no-fault insurance, he voted against giving mortgage-holders interest on their escrow accounts and he voted to exempt telephone companies from paying taxes on new equipment, forcing taxpayers to foot the bill," Kimpel said.

"This year, Schermerhorn promised some kind of relief for the property taxpayer. The session is nearly over and there is no relief in sight," Kimpel said.

"He helped to kill the only bill which would have been a direct benefit to the 40th District: the bill to include local representatives on the Metropolitan Transportation Authority. At least it would have given us a greater voice on the development of Stewart Airport," Kimpel said.

"A striking example of his inability to obtain support from the community and area legislators was his poorly-prepared Newburgh Development District Corp. bill last year, thereby missing out on creating thousands of job opportunities," Kimpel said.

"Schermerhorn cast his vote against a bill allowing class action suits on environmental grounds, claiming it would allow 'any nut' to stop new industry from building on a particular site. The fact is that 'any nut' can now do this if he can obtain an injunction. The bill passed in the Senate makes it difficult to obtain injunctions unless there is proof of environmental damage," Kimpel concluded.

Detector Opposed

ALBANY
Woodstock Assemblyman H. Clark Bell was among those who voted Friday to defeat a bill that would have licensed lie-detector operators in New York State.

Bell said today that the legislation "would have been a terrible invasion of privacy."

The bill, sponsored by Majority Leader John Kingston, was defeated 69-58. Kingston said his intention was merely "to eliminate the unscrupulous people from this business."

But Bell contends that the legislation would have given employers free reign to require their employees to take polygraph tests on a regular basis as a condition for continued employment.

"If an employer thinks one of his workers is stealing from the company," said Bell, "He has recourse through the judicial process. Let him go to the grand jury and get an indictment. That way, everyone's rights are protected," Bell said.

The Assembly voted overwhelmingly last year to ban the use of polygraph machines in the field of employment, but the measure was defeated in the Senate.

Resseguie For Israel

BINGHAMTON
Franklin B. Resseguie, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 27th District, said today he believes "The United States must not jeopardize the interests of Israel while that nation is in distress. While seeking to establish political stability in the Middle East we must not permit any unfair advantage over Israel or allow unwarranted compromise of Israel's interests."

Resseguie said that "While the United States should continue to befriend all nations, we must remember our close friendship with the Nation of Israel and that this relationship will remain the long term key to United States power and influence in the Middle East."

"If it sounds too good to be true, watch out!"

Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk
Kingston, New York 12401

$1 down and $10 a month turns out to be a high price to pay for land you couldn't even give away.

When your mail brings you news of an exciting offer or a terrific bargain, you can almost always count on its honesty. That's because you're protected in many ways from phonies who would use the mail to cheat you.

But sometimes when somebody wants to cheat you, he'll still try to use the mail. And that's where the Post Office comes in—on your side. Some of the schemes we stop are pretty slick. Here are some popular examples to watch out for.

The free vacation trick.

You get a letter that says you've won an all-expense-paid vacation to some dream spot. All you have to do is send a deposit, and you'll get that back when you leave. You're right if you say it's too good to be true.

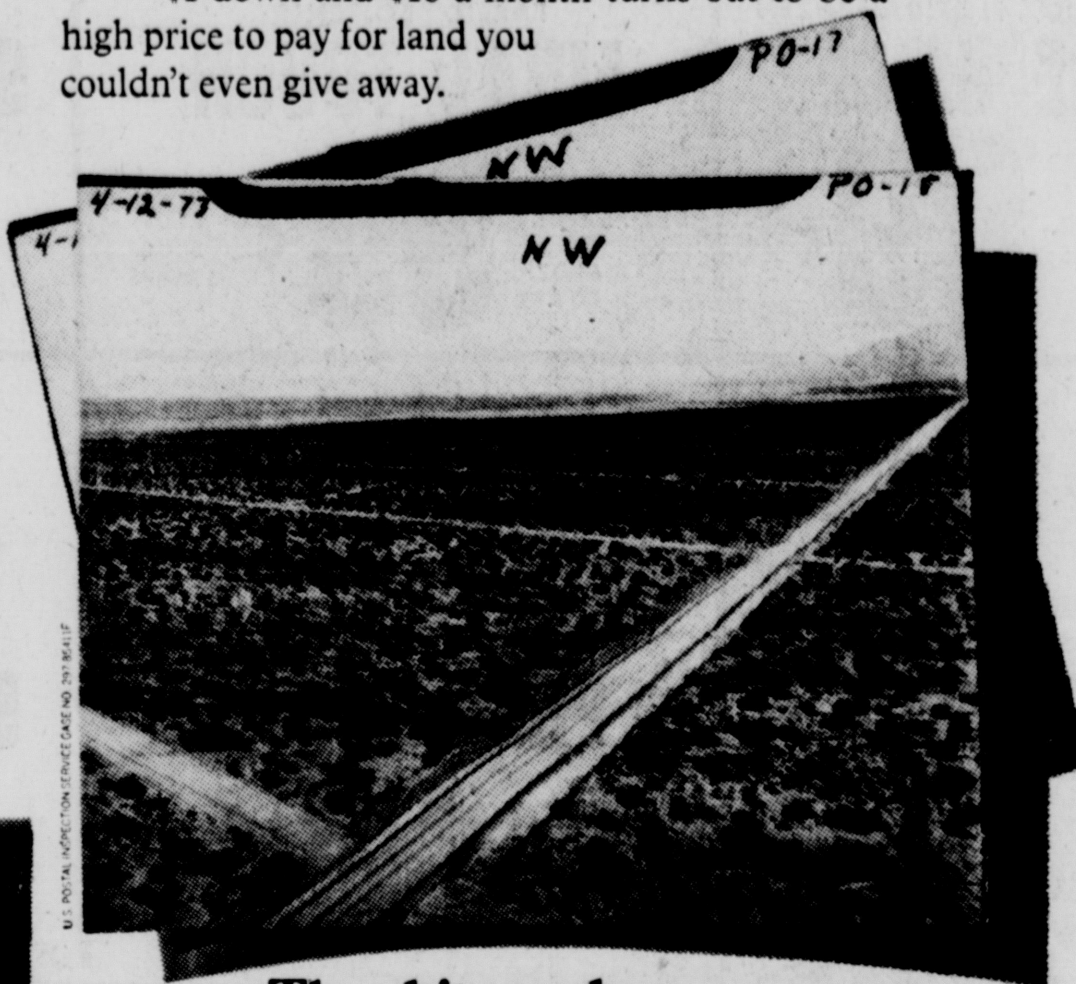

But hundreds of folks have sent their money, dreamt of far-off places, and packed their bags. They never left. But you can bet the crooks who got their money did.

The retirement home swindle.

Maybe you get a telephone call or read an ad that says "Buy a King-Sized Western Estate, Just $1 Down and $10 a Month." The price is so low you might think you can't lose, and you buy the land sight unseen.

A lot of people have done it, and made plans for settling down on their land and building lovely retirement homes. That's before they finally find out the sad truth.

Their king-sized estates are sitting in the middle of a parched desert wilderness, or submerged under acres of smelly swamp water.

The obituary hoax.

Maybe the cruellest trick of them all is a crook who sends COD merchandise to names on the obituary page of the newspaper. One guy even sent out Bibles this way.

He figured a close relative would assume the Bible was ordered by the deceased. And pay for it, no questions asked. Too often, he was right.

We put these crooks in jail.

It's our job to keep you safe from people who would use the mail to cheat you.

There are 1700 Postal Inspectors across the country who do this. And nobody wants the Inspectors on their trail.

Proof is, when a general store with a small Post Office inside was broken into a few years back, the burglars made a chalk line on the floor to divide off the Post Office. They were so afraid of the Inspectors, they scrawled the message: "Inspectors, we didn't cross that line!"

The Inspectors put thousands of crooks out of business last year. And you can rest assured they aren't around to cheat you anymore.

The safest mail in the world.

Thanks to the Postal Inspectors, you've got the safest mail of any country in the world. But be suspicious of something-for-nothing schemes. Never buy land sight unseen. And don't accept COD merchandise you didn't order.

If you should have a question about something that looks fishy, get in touch with us right away. Save the envelope. Save all of its contents. That'll help the Inspectors. And, we might be able to save you from a costly mistake, if the Inspectors are already into the case.

We want you to be able to trust your mail. And we're proud you can.

You have questions.
We want you to have the answers.

Police Contract Sparks Controversy

SAUGERTIES wasn't at the special meeting. The Saugerties Village Board has signed a contract with the village police, but negotiations are still going on. The board at a special meeting May 2 voted a new one-year contract effective June 1, increasing the police budget by $15,000 over the amount in the budget passed April 15. The move brought an objection from Trustee Walter Keefe, who

Jim Luther also criticized the move, saying he had warned repeatedly that there wasn't enough in the budget for a police raise. Trustee Erika Hinchey, the police commissioner, defended the board's action in hiking police pay above the budgeted amount. She said that police pay and equipment were among the few items in the budget that showed a decrease from last year before the special meeting to sign a new contract. "The police were only offered a $50 raise in uniform allowance," she said. "That's ridiculous after other village employees were given raises of from $200 to $1,200 a year." The board knew what police were asking and should have taken that into account."

Teamster Local 445, calls for a $7,000 starting salary going to $10,000 after five years. Sergeants will be paid $600 over the highest paid patrolman, longevity is $100 yearly beginning with the sixth year of service, and the uniform allowance goes up from $150 to $200 yearly.

The board voted to discuss the possibility of renegotiating the contract in executive session, and met after the regular meeting in closed session with Police Chief Gordon Keefe.

Benjamin appointed Mrs. Hinchey, Keefe, and Joseph Martin to a committee to examine applicants for the village clerk-treasurer's position. James Gage has resigned but will stay on until a replacement is named by the board.

The board appointed Thomas Martin, a Saugerties certified public accountant, to be village auditor.

The village will raze one-half of a two-family home on East Bridge Street. The house, occupied on the other side by Mrs. Charles Winters, has been taken over by the village for default of taxes after being in an estate. The village will also repair a sewer line on the property.

PRIMING FOR SPORTSMEN'S SHOW — Members of the Esopus Longrifles Muzzleloading Club ready their guns for the Ulster County Sportsmen's Show to be held May 11-12 at the Ulster County Fairgrounds in New Paltz. Shown standing are: Fred Stine (L), Donald Reed, vice president, Anthony Fairley, treasurer, and kneeling, John Ployard (L) and Thomas Dixon, president. The show will feature numerous exhibits and demonstrations, as well as entertainment. (Freeman photo by Krub)

Ordinance Action Tabled

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE
The Ellenville Village Board tabled action on the ordinance which would require a certificate of rental occupancy for all rented dwellings in the village, following a continued public hearing Monday night.

The hearing had been continued from March 25. The ordinance was called for by local residents and board members following this winter's fire in Ellenville which claimed the lives of two children. The children were living with their family in a rented house; single rented residences are not covered by Ellenville village ordinances with regard to inspections.

The ordinance was tabled after Trustee Bernard Wainer asked Village Manager Modris Pukulis if the committee of tenants and landlords the board had previously called for had been set up. Pukulis told him, without elaboration, that it had not.

Wainer said he was not familiar enough with the ordinance to take action, and had no committee's recommendation to go on.

"Accomplishing for the sake of accomplishing is the worst thing we could do," said the Wainer, adding that a number of board actions had been passed, and subsequently rescinded.

Action will be taken on the measure at the June 17 board meeting, after another public hearing. Village Attorney Alex J. Nirenberg said he would need until then to check with the State Attorney General's Office on the ordinance.

Ellenville landlords have said they want something in the new ordinance which will spell out the responsibilities of tenants to property, and Mayor Robert Dowling said Monday night he favored this.

In other action, the board authorized a $500,000 bond to cover the cost of the village's share for Flood Control. Village Treasurer Joseph Galanduk said after the meeting that something over $100,000 of this had already been borrowed by the village on bond anticipation notes.

Pukulis said the amount of the bond was anticipated to be more than the village needs. He also said the village may be able to get permission from the Corps of Engineers not to build a new Beckley Drive bridge, which would further reduce the village's share by more than $100,000.

The village did not fare well in recent bidding. No bids were received on the drilling of some test wells for the village's water system. Village Engineer Alex Diachishin was authorized to solicit informal bids as long as the total was kept under the legal bid limit of $3,500.

Only one bid was received on a tractor with a mower for the Flood Control dikes. Pukulis said the one bid received did not meet specifications, and the item will be rebid.

Nirenberg was named to the permanent post as attorney. He had been temporary, but word Dowling was waiting for from the state on whether the appointment was his to make had not arrived, and the board voted Nirenberg to the permanent position.

Three public hearings were announced for the May 20 meeting: at 7 p.m. on a rezoning; at 7:30 on rescinding the metering ordinance for parking lots; and at 8:30 on rescinding the annual charge for sprinkler systems.

Dowling proclaimed May as Senior Citizen Month, and the second week in May as Municipal Clerk's Week.

Common Council Meets Tonight

KINGSTON
The Common Council meets tonight at 7:30 where it will be notified of several mayoral appointments to various city commissions.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig has reappointed Harold (Hess) Kaye to a four-year term on the Board of Police Commissioners. Also reappointed was Chester Baltz to a five-year term on the Board of Water Commissioners.

Richard Amato of 34 Andrew St. was appointed to a seven-year term on the Recreation Commission to expire May 31, 1981 replacing James B. Thompson who was originally appointed in 1966 to a one-year term and then reappointed in 1967 to a full seven-year term. Thompson's term expires on May 31 of this year.

Also on the Recreation Commission, Koenig notifies the Council of a clarification concerning the term of Larry Kithcart who was appointed to a five-year term in May of 1969. Koenig notifies the Council that Kithcart's term should have been seven years for expiration in May 31, of 1976.

Another communication from Koenig asks the Council to appropriate $2,000 for the Stockade Committee Inc. to purchase 10,000 coloring books for the Children's Committee of that bi-centennial organization. The books will be sold as part of the city's bicentennial celebration.

The aldermen are also expected to vote on new equipment for the Department of Public Works. Bids were opened last week and came in at almost $325,000. The city's most critical item is trash collection trucks.

The aldermen meet in Common Council Chambers, City Hall, 1 Broadway.

Nets Three-Point Stars

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Brian Taylor maintains he felt all along his New York Nets could overcome the Utah Stars and "that's the real virtue of the three-point play we have in the American Basketball Association."

Taylor made it particularly virtuous for the Nets with a 26-footer that was in the air when the buzzer sounded to end regulation time. When the ball swished, the three points made it 94-94.

In overtime, the Nets went on to win 103-100 and climbed to within one game of the ABA championship, needing only a 23-year-old product of Princeton in his second season with the pros.

"They'll be tough here Wednesday night, I know. But we have the momentum going, we have the confidence, and well, we really don't want a fifth game."

Julius Erving, the leading Net scorer again with 24 points over-all, scored three in the overtime. Larry Kenon added two field goals and Billy Paultz one during the extra five minutes.

Utah, down by 15 points midway in the fourth quarter, staged a stirring rally with 14 straight points paced by the returned Zelmo Beaty. Rick Mount and James Jones, who had 28.

With 10 seconds left they had grabbed a 94-91 lead.

With 10 seconds left Coach Kevin Loughery went for strategy.

"We set up for a three-point shot for the Doc (Erving) but Jones plugged up the lane, so (Wendell) Ladner had to try for an all balance three-pointer. He missed, but was right there for the rebound and whipped it out to Taylor in the range and that was it."

Coach Joe Mullaney of the Stars explained, "Everything worked until the final second. We forced Ladner to take a bad shot, but then when he shot we fell back under the basket instead of falling back into the three-point range. When Ladner got the ball back, Taylor was wide open for the shot at the buzzer."

It was, incidentally, the only three-point field goal in the three game championship series so far.

Utah had its crimples on the floor, but Beaty was obviously tiring. The usual high-scoring Ron Boone hit only for two points and Gerald Govan wasn't up to his rebounding norm.

Beaty, who missed the first two games because of an infection, scored 22 points and had 16 rebounds.

Utah regained the services of veteran 6-foot-9 center Zelmo Beaty for this third game and the big fellow contributed 22 points including nine in the final quarter which saw the Stars surge from an 85-70 deficit.

Beaty, James Jones and Rick Mount scored 14 consecutive points between them in that binge.

It was Beaty who sent the Stars ahead 92-91 and Willie Wise added two free throws to put the count at 94-91 with just 10 seconds remaining and the crowd of 10,743 in an uproar.

After a timeout by the Nets, reserve Wendell Ladner let fly a long but unsuccessful shot. The Nets regained the ball and Taylor shot while on the run and outside the three-point 25-foot circle.

The Nets controlled the overtime with Larry Kenon scoring two field goals, Billy Paultz scoring one and Julius Erving adding a field goal and a free throw, boosting his total to 24, tops for the Nets.

Jones scored 28 for the losers, including 10 in the fourth period and four in the overtime.

Utah, fully realizing a triumph was needed after losing two straight in New York, battled to a 25-17 first-quarter lead with Jones hitting for 10 points and Beaty seven.

Buddy Allin Up to $103,000

DALLAS (UPI) — Somewhere in Las Vegas about now there is a fellow with a freshly won wad of money that totals more than $100,000 and only a smidgen of that is going to wind up on the tables or in the slot machines.

It's not that Buddy Allin is against gambling, particularly. It's just that he doesn't do much of it. He doesn't jump up and down and hop around when something goes right, either, because he is trying to control his emotions.

What he does do, and quite well, is to make birdies on a golf course. He made three in a row Monday, beginning at the 14th hole of the Preston Trail Golf Club, and they boosted Allin to a win in the $150,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic — delayed one day by rain.

"Those were probably the three best holes I've played in my life," Allin said matter of factly after pocketing a $30,000 check that put his year's earnings at $103,919.

"Before I made those I was hopeful I could hang in there and win it. But I wouldn't have bet my life on it."

Allin's siege of birdies broke up what had been a congested stretch drive and they eventually led to a four-stroke decision over four players — Lee Trevino, Charles Coody, Tom Watson and Homer Blancas. Allin's Monday total was a three-under-68 and his 72-hole score of 15-under-269 set a tournament record.

He became only the second golfer this year to move over the $100,000 plateau — the other being Allin's former Brigham Young teammate, Johnny Miller.

Allin, a former Vietnam artillery officer whose 5-foot-9 and 133 pound statistics prevent him from being one of the tour's big hitters, gave no hint by his outward appearance Monday that he had just won a golf tournament.

"I feel more excited inside than I show outside," he said. "I've been trying to learn to control my emotions a little bit."

Allin's success has been increasing steadily since he joined the tour in 1970, but he is not yet ready to place himself in the same category with the superstars of the game.

"Things just went my way today," he said. "The longer you stay out here, though, the more you learn."

And the longer he stays on the tour the more his competitors learn about Buddy Allin.

Memphis Kisses The NFL Goodbye

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) —in faith money and said it will move here immediately and NFL decides to move to open the season in July.

Millionaire grain dealer Ned Cook, a big National Football League fan, was hopping mad Monday when Memphis rolled out the red carpet to the Toronto franchise of the World Football League.

"There are a lot of people who will back a play — good or bad — just to take Helen Hayes to dinner," Cook said angrily. "Well, Memphis just kissed the NFL goodbye."

The city park commission voted 3-1 in a sometimes heated, four-hour meeting to grant a five-year lease for 50,000-seat Memphis Memorial Stadium to the Toronto Northmen.

The team, faced with a possible ban by the Canadian Parliament due to conflict with the Canadian Football League anyway, plunked down $75,000.

Sports

The Northmen dropped their demand for an "exclusive" contract for professional football rights at the stadium. But the team got just as good when the park commission agreed to "preferential" dates for the franchise.

"They (the park commission) have given the Toronto team exclusivity under the guise of preference," he said. "No team would come here under these circumstances."

The Northmen, owned mainly by John Bassett Jr. and John Craig Eaton, will bring along with them the rights to Miami Dolphins Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Paul Warfield whom they signed for the 1975 season for $3 million.

Cook said he did not intend to help finance the WFL team. But there seemed to be plenty of persons ready to contribute toward the $3 million which representatives of the team said is needed from local sources.

Dotson, 30, played last season with the St. Louis Cardinals and now is free to play for the Texans this season, officials said. He is a 6-foot-4, 260-pound defensive tackle.

The three players who signed with the Sharks is obligated to play the 1974 season with his NFL team unless released to join the WFL immediately.

All are former University of Florida players who were high school stars in the state and would be good drawing cards here.

The fourth player was Al Dotson, an eight-year veteran of the National Football League who signed with the WFL Houston Texans.

Smith, of the Los Angeles Rams, and Wages, of the Atlanta Falcons, along with offensive guard Guy Dennis of the Detroit Lions, signed multi-year contracts with the Jacksonville Sharks.

Four more National Football League players, including running backs Larry Smith and Harmon Wages, jumped to the new World Football League Monday and said they might be released from playing out their option year in the NFL.

Ketcham Sweeps Nets

PINE PLAINS
Winning both the singles and doubles crowns, Roy C. Ketcham High School captured first place in the first Pine Plains Tennis Tournament with 27 points.

Onteora High placed second with 31 points, followed by Pine Plains 45 and Dover 69. There were 16 entries in singles and eight in doubles. Cross country type scoring was used with one point for first, two for runnerup and 16th for 16th.

Calvin Sun of Ketcham defeated Dave Thorpe of Pine Plains 8-6 for the singles title. Ketcham's Steffen Kraehmer edged Conrad Earnest of Onteora 9-8 for third place. Sun advanced to the finals by beating Russ Houldin of Onteora 8-5. Dave Nutter of Ketcham 8-3 and Earnest 8-4. Thorpe won over Stu Coyle of Pine Plains 8-1, Bomber Kevin Dyer 8-3, and Kraehmer 8-4. Dave Scherbarth and Bob Berkley of Onteora, placed fifth and sixth, respectively in the singles.

In the doubles, Ketcham's Chuck Kenny and Steve Silbertstein edged Matt Earnest and Bill Harder 8-6 for the championship. The Onteora pair of Ben Hill and Scott Hastie beat Dover's Bill Brown and Bob Scott 8-5 for third place.

UP FOR TWO — Larry Kenon of the New York Nets goes up with a shot as Willie Wise of Utah waits for rebound in Monday night's third game of ABA championship playoff in Salt Lake City. Utah's Gerald Govan (25) trails behind. Nets won to take 3-0 lead in series. (UPI)

Fregosi Hit Two And Gave Back Two

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — whose presence and the Texas Ranger third baseman Jim Fregosi put two balls out of the park Monday night against the New York Yankees, but unfortunately for him only one of them came off his bat.

Fregosi brought Texas back from an early 4-0 deficit with four runs batted in, including a three-run homer in the fourth inning, to tie the score 4-4.

But his overthrow into the seats on a ground ball led to two New York runs in the seventh to give the Yankees a 6-4 American League victory.

"It created so much excitement when I put that first ball (the homer) into the stands," said Fregosi. "I just thought I'd do it again. Unfortunately with negative results."

New York took its 4-0 margin in the second inning off 19-year-old pitcher David Clyde.

Hank Didn't Steal Home Brewers Gave It to Him

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Henry Aaron, all-time home run king, returned to his first major league home Monday night and wound up taking home plate with him when he left.

He didn't steal home — he was given it as a souvenir by the Milwaukee Brewers as part of a shower of gifts during pregame ceremonies on "Welcome Home Henry Night."

Aaron and the rest of the Atlanta Braves were here to play their annual exhibition game with the Milwaukee Brewers. A crowd of 21,533 turned out in 38-degree weather to honor Aaron.

The Brewers won 1-0.

The home plate, which had been imbedded in the field since 1953 when County Stadium opened for the then Milwaukee Braves, was presented Aaron with the number 185 printed on it (that was the number of homers he hit in the stadium from 1954, when he broke into the majors, until 1966 when the Braves moved to Atlanta).

In all, Aaron hit 398 of his 720 home runs while wearing a Milwaukee uniform.

Aaron thanked everyone in the stadium, "especially the kids who came out tonight — probably a lot of them don't even remember back to 1954."

"I wasn't a major league

Tidrow said his performance in his first start for New York since his acquisition from Cleveland 10 days ago doesn't mean anything as far as silencing critics of the controversial seven-player deal.

"I don't think one win silences anything," he said. "Even one season won't decide how that trade came out for both teams."

But Yankee manager Bill Virdon said, "His performance should help silence the critics."

Another Yankee player involved in the deal, Chris Chambliss, was the recipient of the Fregosi error in the seventh.

With one out, he hit a soft grounder to Fregosi, who threw to first was far into the stands, allowing Chambliss to take second. After Thurman Munson walked, Bobby Murcer singled home Chambliss. Munson, who took third on Murcer's hit, then scored on a Ron Blomberg groundout, making the score 6-4.

Murcer sprained an ankle sliding into second base on Blomberg's grounder, but Murcer said he would play in tonight's game against the Rangers.

Tidrow upped his record to 2-3 with the victory. He got relief help in the ninth inning from Sparky Lyle, who struck out the side.

"I've never had a reliever like Sparky Lyle behind me," said Tidrow.

Jackie Brown (0-1), who relieved Clyde when the teenager developed a blister on his pitching hand in the fifth inning, took the loss although he allowed no earned runs in 1-2-3 innings.

Elsewhere on an abbreviated major league schedule, the San Diego Padres edged the Philadelphia Phillies 7-6 in the only National League contest for unbeaten rookie Dave Freisleben's third victory, the Baltimore Orioles downed the stumbling Oakland A's 6-3 and the Detroit Tigers nipped the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Two National League games were rained out — Los Angeles at Montreal and San Francisco at New York.

Peterson blanked the Angels until the fifth when Dave Chalk doubled, Bobby Valentine singled and Frank Robinson homered. He gave way to Milt Wilcox at the start of the seventh.

"Technically, I think the Indians have a better team than the Yankees put on the field. I think the trade helped make this team," he said.

IT'S IN THE CARDS — San Francisco Giants' three top outfielders — Garry Maddox, Gary Matthews and Bobby Bonds — play some cards at Shea Stadium Monday night, waiting for the word that game with Mets was rained out. (UPI)

Cougars in Seven

TORONTO (UPI) — The Chicago Amphitheater — because of a production of Peter Pan and forced to play at the Mickey Mouse Randolph Hotel in nearby Mt. Prospect, Ill. The Cougars once again found themselves trailing the second-place finishers — Toronto, 3-2.

Chicago promptly went on to defeat the Toros, 9-2, on Saturday night, then won the seventh and deciding game, 5-2, at Maple Leaf Gardens Tuesday night.

"We played another must game and won it," said elated playing Coach Pat Stapleton. "When we fell behind by a goal in the first period, nobody panicked and pretty soon we were back on top."

The Toros had scored the only goal of the first frame when Tom Simpson took a quick wrist shot and beat Cougar goaltender Andre Gill to the short side.

In the second period the youthful Toros fell victim to the strong checking and opportunity-grabbing Cougars. Chicago managed just nine shots on goal but they made them count as Bob Liddington, Jan Popiel, Bob Siziniski, and Darryl Maggs found the range giving the Cougars a 4-1 lead.

Actually, Siziniski's goal which Stapleton later described as being "the turning point in the game" went in off Toros Guy Trotter. Siziniski, trying to make a pass in front of the net, flicked the puck in the air and the back-checking Trotter saw the disk deflect off his stick past a bewildered Gilles Gratton in the Toros cage.

Bruins Have Edge

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins have lost only one home game and tied two against the Philadelphia Flyers since 1967, and Boston Coach Bep Guidolin hopes the domination continues when the teams meet Tuesday night in the opening game of the National Hockey League playoff final.

The Flyers are the most penalized team in NHL history, but that doesn't seem to bother Guidolin, who said Monday, "We have some pretty big men who know how to handle themselves."

Guidolin said the Flyers, "could be a little tired from the extra work they had to do" in beating the New York Rangers, four games to three, in a grueling semifinal series for the right to meet the Bruins.

Guidolin said he is not worried about the Flyers' star center, Bobby Clarke and Rick MacLeish. MacLeish might play against the Bruins' great Phil Esposito, but Guidolin said, "Esposito's going to get his goals."

"Oh, he may be shut out for a game or so," Guidolin said, "but he'll get his share. And if he doesn't, his wingers (Ken Hodge and Wayne Cashman) should."

As for Esposito, his one real worry isn't MacLeish — it's his possible loss of concentration. "At this time of the year," he said, "with all the nice weather, there is an opportunity to do so many things like play golf or tennis. You have to hope you don't lose the concentration or momentum."

The Bruins have not played since April 30, when they beat the Chicago Black Hawks, four games to two, in the other semifinal. But if past history is an example, the Bruins won't have to fear losing strength.

In 1970, the Bruins were idle for a week after beating Chicago — then overwhelmed the St. Louis Blues in four straight to win their first Stanley Cup in 29 years.

But West Division champion Philadelphia might not be easy to beat. Even though the Flyers have beaten Boston only once in the past 28 meetings, they were just edged out by the East champion Bruins for the home ice advantage for the series.

NHC Nets To Rockland

MIDDLETOWN losing to Rockland 6-2, 6-0. Janet Dunn was eliminated by Richard Turk of Rockland 6-0, 6-1 and Bob Kuperman of Orange took out Temple in the second round 6-3, 6-3.

Joseph Pannellotti, the tournament director, had high praise for Marz whom he rated as "an excellent performer for a fill-in player."

The championships are in complete with Bob Rockman and Rich Lanzetta, both of Rockland, scheduled to play for the singles title at their convenience. The team scores remain final.

Andy Lazar and Bob Lake of Orange Community won the doubles championship by defeating Bob Rockman and Tom Bloodgood of Rockland in three sets. The match went to a 4-4 tiebreaker. Bloodgood went for an ace and faulted Lake then smashed the winning shot.

Rockland had already won the MHC on record, so the tournament was primarily to determine the Region XV competitors. Rockland is the defending champion and is favored to repeat.

Ullster suffered a big blow when Tom Krom, its No. 1 player and top seed in the conference tournament, had to pass it up because of illness. Coach Pete Zeeh also was unable to accompany the team because of a severe cold.

The UCCO delegation consisted of Jerry Prendergast, Janet Dunn, Bob Marz, Barry Temple.

Prendergast lost in the quarter-finals to Bloodgood of Rockland 6-3, 6-4. Marz also bowed in the quarter-finals.

OCS Linksman Top Bushmen

WOODSTOCK Hampered by a driving rain, Ontario High School's golf varsity trounced Pine Bush by a relatively high score of 172-188 at the Woodstock Country Club links.

The victory was the first official win in the Ulster County Athletic League for Coach Rick Barthel's squad.

John Carlson's 42 for Ontario was the lowest nine of the day, competitors. Rockland is the Jeff Buton and Bill Kennedy fired 43 each and Mike Powers contributed a 44.

Jim Falco and Mike Phillip carded 46 each for Pine Bush with Pete Marz adding 47 and Tom Collins 49.

Indy Official Struck by Car

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Indianapolis "500" practice, delayed a week in the name of energy conservation, opened with a record flurry of activity Monday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

A veteran track official was injured in a two-car dash to be the first onto the 2.5-mile oval, but otherwise, practice for the May 26 classic went off without a hitch on opening day.

Twenty-seven cars were on the track, which is a record for the first day of practice. The old record was 13 back in 1961.

Because of the shortened practice period, drivers and crews also apparently were ahead of time in attaining speeds. Time trials begin Saturday.

Former "500" champ Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., had the day's top speed at 188.245 miles per hour. Mike Mosley, Clermont, Ind., had a lap at 184.312 m.p.h., while Salt Martin's 44 and two 46s by Steve Dulin and A. J. Manen, in a fiery accident in last year's race, was back and turned a lap at 183.154.

Ellie Golfers Edge Coleman

KINGSTON Ellenville High's golf team kept a one stroke lead all the way through its Monday match with Coleman, and won by two strokes at Twaalfskill Country Club.

The course was described as being in "good shape," despite a steady downpour throughout the contest. Final score was Ellenville 176, Coleman 178.

Mike Hayden of the winning UCCAL team carded a 41 for medalist, and he was abetted by Jim Murray's 44, John Gillette's 45 and Bruce Tennenbaum's 46.

Jeff Kelly led Coleman with 42 strokes, followed by Rich Martin's 44 and two 46s by Steve Dulin and A. J. Manen. Coleman is now 1-3 on the season.

But West Division champion Philadelphia might not be easy to beat. Even though the Flyers have beaten Boston only once in the past 28 meetings, they were just edged out by the East champion Bruins for the home ice advantage for the series.

Kolln Had Right Man

KINGSTON Werner (Van) Kolln picked a good partner, gave him some sound advice and the two combined to win first place in the Wiltwyck Golf Club's men Member-Member-Guest tournament with a net best-ball 30-32.62. Fifty five teams competed.

Kolln and his partner, Bob Ohlson, who now plays out of IBM Fishkill, hit the jackpot after trying unsuccessfully as a tandem the past few years.

Ohlson, a 19-handicapper, was sensational on the front nine, where he chipped in from 20 feet for a pure birdie on the par-5 seventh hole, then followed up with a net ace on the par-3 eighth. He had two

Marlboro and Red Hook UCAL Winners

KINGSTON set for today, Ellenville at Wallkill and Ontonagon at Pine Bush. Rain wiped out half the UCALs' six-game slate Monday, and that left three teams wishing they too had decided not to brave the elements.

The soggy results showed Marlboro with its third straight win by a 4-2 count over New Paltz, Red Hook with a tense 6-4 victory over Fallsburgh, and Liberty with a 10-5 win over Highland.

Postponed were Rondout at this season, got a first inning Coleman, which has been re-stand up until his defense de-asserted him in the third. Marlboro went ahead on a pair of hits. Joe Skelly relieved and unearned scores then as two. Huggie errors leaked runs across the plate.

New Paltz tied it in the fourth but went scoreless from that point to fall to 5-2 on the year. An erratic start on the mound by Red Hook's Matt King gave Fallsburgh a lead it kept for six innings, but big hits by Jim Minkler and Greg Martin finally pulled it out for the Raiders.

King lasted only one third runs but also continued to be generous on defense. "We're making mistakes we shouldn't be," said coach Larry Green.

Things were going fine for the Big Blue until the fourth when a 3-0 lead turned into a 3-4 deficit. After the next frame, it was 8-3. A solo homer by Phil Fanning and a three-run shot by Mario Berry accounted for much of the damage.

Dave Sostak went all the way for the win while Gary Scheuer took the loss. Liberty, now with a 3-3 record, moved into first KINGSTON Ketcham defeated last place Lourdes, 4-1 to move alone into the league lead. Roosevelt nipped Poughkeepsie, 3-2, and Saugerties at Arlington was rained out.

No decision to complete or replay the game has been made. That may be determined on the basis of the game's relevance to the final league standings. What did occur for seven full innings was a pair of standoffs four-hitters by Kingston's Gary Amato and couldn't reach Ennesser despite getting several baserunners during the rest of the game.

The Patriots had just as much trouble with Amato but finally scored one in the third. Pete Longobardi singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on a double by Charlie Hayden.

Amato almost had enough to win it right there, but he cost himself the victory in the next frame. A single by Jim Caruso that should have been harmless turned out to be the tying run when Primo attempted a pickoff and threw the ball into right field. Caruso came all the way home on the play.

Dave Decker retired two Patriots in the top of the eighth before the game was called.

55 Mile Speed Limit Being Ignored

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two months after the 55 miles per hour speed limit went into effect on a nationwide basis, an Associated Press survey shows Americans have slowed down a little but are still driving faster than the law allows.

The AP sent reporters in the 48 contiguous states to drive on the highways on May 1, keeping at the legal limit of 55 m.p.h. to see what other motorists were doing. The AP also checked on the number of speeding tickets issued before and after the limit was lowered and on traffic fatalities.

Among the conclusions: Americans in all but a handful of states, including Delaware and Oklahoma, are ignoring the 55 m.p.h. limit, whizzing by a driver who traveling at the legal speed.

The average speed on most highways is 65 to 70 m.p.h., he ended April 15, up from 2,352 far this year, compared to 52 last year.

—Speeds are creeping up as gasoline availability increases, Gov. John D. Vanderhoof of Colorado said he sees "more people exceeding the speed limit than there were a couple of months ago. All they have to do is increase gas consumption by 4 or 5 per cent and we're right back in the same jam."

—Drivers think the lower speed limit can be enjoyable, but agree that it gets boring over long distances in monotonous country. They also said there was a tendency to let the speedometer creep up to match the flow of traffic.

The highways are safer. The National Safety Council saw a drop in traffic deaths in March from 25 per cent from a year earlier. Ohio officials say 107 persons died in traffic accidents on March and April.

Statistics show that they are enforcing the law strictly. The Kansas Highway Patrol to 193 persons last year; North Dakota authorities said there HOUSTON (UPI) — Skyscrapers in big cities can affect the weather like mountains do, and they have significantly changed rainfall patterns all over the world, according to research scientist Dr. Joseph L. Goldman.

"The tall buildings act as a mountain to the wind," said the University of St. Thomas professor, who is associate director of the Institute for Storm Research.

"As the wind blows over this very low sloping surface, it impinges on these buildings. Some of it goes up. Some of it goes around."

"When it goes up and around, it is lifted," he said. "It cools and condenses. It forms clouds and then it rains."

He said the effect of skyscrapers already has shown up in meteorological statistics. In Houston, for example, the east side received more rainfall than the west because it is nearer the primary source of moisture, the Gulf of Mexico.

"We now find that it is dryer in the downtown area where it used to be wet before," Goldman said. "The west used to be dry relative to the downtown area and the east."

"It's happening all over the world," he said.

Goldman suggested the change in rainfall patterns caused by the buildings be applied to practical urban problems, such as planning drainage systems and the problem of sinkage.

The land sinkage — up to six inches a year in some areas — is caused by giant industries sucking millions of gallons of water from beneath the surface. It would help for the industries to switch to surface water.

Goldman said big cities required a great amount of water to survive, and took issue with those who think there won't be enough in the future.

"I'm sort of an optimist," Goldman said. "I think it's very possible we can progress into the megalopolis with a very efficient system. The source of moisture is right here. I think we'll have all the water resource we'll need."

A. J. FULLER, President

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed telephone rate schedules have been filed with the Public Service Commission to be effective June 5, 1974. These regulations are filed pursuant to the Commission's Order of February 6, 1974 in Case 26243.

A deposit secured from an applicant for residence service shall be reviewed by the Company after the first three monthly bills have been rendered. If a deposit is $10 higher or 20% higher (whichever is greater) than the sum of the bills for service during the second and third months, the difference between such sum and the amount of the deposit shall be returned.

When a deposit on existing service is to be returned in whole or in part, the amount to be returned may first be applied to the current amount then payable for telephone service. Return of an amount over and above the current amount then payable for telephone service shall be made by check unless the subscriber requests that such amount be credited to his bill.

The Company will continue to pay interest on subscriber deposits at the rate of 7% per year.

The Company will continue to pay interest on subscriber deposits at the rate of 7% per year.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGE IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that a tariff filing has been made which provides for changes in the surcharges which may be charged by subscribers which are hotels, motels, marinas, apartment houses and clubs. Additional regulations for these subscribers have also been included in the tariff. This filing is in compliance with Order of the Public Service Commission, issued February 20, 1974 in Case 26027 and 26149, to be effective May 30, 1974.

Charges

On calls sent paid from other stations on the switchboard and on incoming collect calls to such stations, the subscribers may charge and collect from guests, tenants, and patrons charges which shall not exceed the following:

Local Calls—Present Charges

9.2¢ for each local message or message unit charged by the Telephone Company and any additional tariff charge for a person-to-person or operator handled station-to-station call plus a surcharge of 14¢ on each call (including taxes.)

A) Dial Type Station-to-Station Calls

10¢ for each local message or message unit charged by the Telephone Company plus a surcharge of 20¢ on each call (including taxes).

B) Person-to-person or Telephone Company operator handled station-to-station calls

Tariff charge—plus taxes—and a surcharge of 20¢ including taxes on each call.

Intrastate Toll Calls—Present Charges

Where the charge is 50¢ or less: Tariff charge, plus a surcharge of 20¢, each

Where the charge is over 50¢ but not over $1.00: Tariff charge, plus a surcharge of 25¢, each

Where the charge is over $1.00: Tariff charge, plus a surcharge of 30¢, each

Intrastate Toll Calls—New Charges

Tariff charge—plus taxes—and a surcharge of 20¢ including taxes on each call.

Records of billing to guests, tenants and patrons for telephone calls shall be retained by the subscriber for a period of at least one year. Such records shall be made available to the Telephone Company for inspection upon request.

The subscriber shall display, at check-in and check-out desks and at the extensions of guests, tenants and patrons, information pertaining to the surcharges, and telephone numbers to be called to obtain surcharge information or to register a complaint.

In the event of failure of the subscriber to comply with these regulations or any other applicable tariff regulation, or in the event of failure by the subscriber to make restitution to its guests, tenants and patrons of any wrongfully collected surcharges for telephone calls, the subscriber's service shall be terminated in accordance with tariff provisions.

Route 28 Businessmen Hear About Hang Gliding

GLENFORD — Bob Small is making the arrangements for the Association's annual summer clambake, scheduled for some time in June. The event is tentatively set for the White Horse Inn.

Winton and Shirely Morrison of the Snowflake Ski Shop are in contact with clubs in California, where the sport is becoming more popular every day, and expect to have a report ready for the Association's next meeting.

Hang gliders are either towed aloft or jump from steep cliffs and descend on an aluminum-framed apparatus that takes advantage of thermal wind currents. Demonstrations at Cypress Gardens, Fla., have been seen by numerous tourists. Gliders there are towed aloft by motorboats due to the lack of hills in Florida.

Jerry DiAnno of West Hurley was the featured speaker at the recent meeting, presenting ideas for reducing fire insurance costs to members.

Members are urged to bring new members along to next Tuesday's meeting. Winner in the new member contest receives a free pizza from The Retreat.

The meeting will be held at The Retreat beginning at 8 p.m. On the agenda are plans for the clambake, guest speakers to discuss and present insurance ideas for businessmen and their operations, and pension plans.

More Blacks Enlisting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army officials predict that black representation in the ranks may rise to 25 per cent over the long term.

This would be about 5 per cent higher than the current level and roughly double the percentage of young blacks in the general U.S. population.

April recruitment figures have not yet been published, but black enlistments in the Army reportedly rose last month after leveling off in January through March.

Army manpower officials said they were unable to explain the increase, but it appeared the unsettled economic situation might be a factor.

While insisting they never will impose any racial quotas, officials are concerned about achieving what they call a "representative Army."

Secretary of the Army Howard H. Callaway said recently that "if it were perceived by the American public that the Army was a place only where blacks really belong and we got into this kind of position, I think it would not be a representative army."

"There is always the question... that we would not be fair in times of combat for blacks to give more than their share of... the danger and the suffering," Callaway said.

This suggests the Army still is sensitive because of allegations, denied at the time, that blacks took disproportionate casualties in the Vietnam war.

At the same time, Army officials indicate they are pleased with the quality of blacks in their units. One general noted that the Army's crack 82nd Airborne Division is 26 per cent black.

The Army has been the focus of attention for those trying to gauge progress under the all-volunteer concept, because the Army was the most draft-dependent of the armed forces before the selective service law died about 10 months ago.

There is no word yet on how black recruitment went in the Marines, the Navy and Air Force in April.

Transcript May Become Best Seller

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Dell Publishing Company's 736-page book on President Nixon's Watergate transcript will be shipped to dealers Tuesday, a printing company official says.

Charles E. DeWitt, plant manager of Western Publishing Co. here, says the company has an exclusive contract to print some 700,000 copies of the paperback book. It will sell for $2.45.

The printing firm started work on the transcripts last Thursday, DeWitt said, and "in some areas we worked over the weekend."

Your Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An interesting evening. Your mood will change from a fearful one to the assurance you can do those things you wish and be with people who will restore your self-confidence.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Finish work promised during day. In p.m., get into new interesting activities. Letters can prove disappointing early. By p.m., they turn to good fortune.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): You feel annoyed because you have to handle boring matters in a.m., but you cheer up later when you get the benefits therefrom.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Evening is the best time to come to an agreement with one who is difficult during day. Do not lose your temper with anyone.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Get unpleasant work done, then you have fine benefits from it in p.m. Get plenty of rest in p.m. Avoid danger of any kind.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You get a renewal of energies late in p.m. Get out of that despondent mood early. Enjoy amusements after important work is done early.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22):

If you want to entertain happily at home tonight, don't start a rumper with kin during day. If you smoke too much, cut down, or stop.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Use care shopping or when in motion. Don't make any comments that could fire anger of others. Then fine benefits are yours in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You are apt to spend too lavishly at one time and then to be a positive Scrooge the next, so stop such extremes. Evening favors studying finances, property matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): You don't feel happy during a.m., and are apt to be sarcastic, so zip your lip for good friendships. Work cheers you up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You want to break out of your bonds violently, so take it easy and find out what the real trouble is. Give more attention to romance in p.m.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Handle problems during day. Wait until p.m. to be sociable with friends who are busy before. Help a good friend who asks for assistance.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Tomorrow is better time to talk with bigwig. Pay pressing debts. Then out for recreation. Don't drink too heavily.

IF YOUR CHILD IF BORN TODAY... he or she will be charming, but restless and nervous early in life, so will need much rest and may require warm milk and bedtime stories to put to sleep. Later on in life, the nature becomes very sturdy. Give little chores early, but make sure they are not too difficult. Add foreign languages to the scholastic curriculum, since there will be much travel in this lifetime. Imports and exports are fine here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ALONE: (Q) I don't have any girl friends as yet because I can never gather up the courage to talk to a girl when we are alone.

I can easily talk to a girl when we're with other people, but only if she breaks the ice first. What should I do? —18 and Shy in Wisconsin.

(A.) Keen talking, in groups, to the girls or girl you like. All of a sudden, one day, you will discover you have what it takes to talk to girls alone, personally. It is all a matter of practice.

Remember this, though. Never talk to a girl just to be talking. Talk only when you have something you want to say to her.

NEW FAMILY: (Q) Last year a new family moved into our neighborhood and joined our church. The woman is 27, several years younger than my mother. She is very active in the church and finds every little excuse to see and talk to my father. They get along TOO well.

As a result, my mother has become emotionally unstable. She has been to a psychiatrist, but is no better. My father can't see any harm in the situation. This is killing my mother. What can I do to help? —Hurting in Florida.

(A.) This is a problem your mother and father must work out for themselves. There is not much you can do except to remind him that his friendship with this woman, no matter how innocent it may be, is causing your mother pain.

In an all-expert game South would go down at his three notrump contract with no hesitation in play and no fanfare.

East would win the first trick with the ace or the king of hearts and lead back the five spot. Expert South would play the 10 and the defense would collect four hearts and the ace of spades.

An ordinary player sitting South might well rise with the queen and make his contract or he might have no problem to start with. An ordinary East might well cash the ace and king of hearts immediately.

Why would the expert South play the 10 and not the queen?

Why would the expert South play the 10 and not the queen?

It is a matter of something called restricted choice. Suppose to simplify matters that East plays the king and then the five.

South knows it makes no difference if West holds both the ace and jack, but it matters if West holds just one of them. South also knows something else. If West holds just one he is twice as likely to be holding the ace as the jack.

The reason is that if East held king-jack he would surely have played the king. If he held ace-king as was the case here expert East could be expected to play the king half the time and the ace half the time. Thus, when he played the king he was twice as likely to be left with the jack as with the ace.

Key Primary Contests in Several States

By The Associated Press
An early indication of how well incumbents will fare in this year's elections may be supplied today as two governors and two senators seek nomination to new terms. Today is primary day in a number of states.

The incumbents were Govs. George C. Wallace of Alabama and John J. Gilligan of Ohio, and Sens. Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio and James B. Allen of Alabama, all Democrats.

North Carolina voters were selecting nominees to run for the seat of Democratic Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, who is retiring.

In other races, voters were nominating candidates for 32 House seats, most of their state legislatures and various other state officials.

While there have been only two primaries so far this year, today's will introduce six weeks of balloting in which 20 states will choose nominees for the Nov. 5 mid-term elections.

Many observers have predicted that the Watergate scandal will hurt incumbents in this year's voting.

Wallace, seeking an unprecedented third term, was heavily favored to beat four opponents.

His most active foe, state Sen. Gene McLain of Huntsville, has said Wallace really has his eye on the 1976 presidential race rather than governor.

Wallace, in contrast to previous campaigns, has appealed directly to the black vote this year. This has been viewed as an attempt to improve his national image and Wallace has stated openly that he might try for the Democratic nomination for president in 1976.

Others in the Alabama field included former Gov. James E. Folsom.

In Alabama's Senate race, Allen, a Wallace ally, was favored over John Taylor to win the Democratic nomination.

A close race was forecast in Ohio between Metzenbaum and former astronaut John Glenn. A main issue was financial disclosure, with each claiming he has revealed his worth and disclosed back taxes.

Metzenbaum beat Glenn in the 1970 primary, but lost in the general election to Republican Robert A. Taft Jr. He was named to the Senate by Gov. Gilligan when Republican incumbent William B. Saxbe became attorney general.

Gilligan had only token opposition in his bid for renomination. Former Gov. James Rhodes, attempting a comeback, was opposed by state Rep. Charles Fry for the GOP nomination.

Ten North Carolina Democrats were seeking the nomination to Ervin's seat. Leading hopefuls were state Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan, former White House lobbyist Henry Hall Wilson and former Rep. Nick Galifianakis.

State Rep. William E. Stevens, brother-in-law of Rep. James T. Broyhill, was favored for the GOP nomination.

In Indiana, Democratic Sen. Birch Bayh and Richard Lugar, Republican mayor of Indianapolis, were without opposition for nomination for November's Senate race.

District of Columbia voters were choosing whether to accept a new charter giving them partial home rule. The proposed charter would take management of the city away from congressional committees and turn it over to an elected city government.

Even if home rule is approved, Congress still would have the power to rescind any action of the City Council.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., says he will have to face questions about Chappaquiddick if he runs for president in 1976. But he says he already has given all the answers.

Kennedy said Monday he would like to be president and would make a decision on the race by late next year and possibly earlier.

"If I was asked today, I'd just run for re-election to the Senate," he said.

Asked, "Would you, deep down, like to be president?" Kennedy replied: "Yes."

Appearing on "Washington Straight Talk," a national public affairs broadcasting program, Kennedy also was asked about the 1969 Chappaquiddick accident, in which his car fell off a bridge and Mary Jo Kopechne was killed.

Interviewer Paul Duke asked if Watergate meant that more attention would be focused on this if Kennedy were the Democratic presidential nominee.

"There will probably be those, if I were a candidate, that would raise it," Kennedy said. "If he runs it is something that will have to be faced, he said."

"But people finally and ultimately are going to have to make judgments about my views, my record in the Senate," he said.

"Wouldn't you have to explain certain things, for example why it took you seven days to happen an explanation for what happened at Chappaquiddick?" Duke asked.

Kennedy said the record "has been really laid out.... There's not going to be any more facts that are going to come out. They've been out."

NEW YORK (AP) — Authorities early today were still looking for five of nine inmates who broke out of a city prison recreation room on Riker's Island.

While guards searched the grounds and patrol boats plowed the water of the Hell Gate passage around the island, Correction Department officials said they had captured James Sims, 21, of Manhattan minutes after the breakout Monday night.

The authorities said three other inmates went with Sims through a window, but they tried to swim through the chilly water to the Bronx, about a mile distant.

Instead they were picked up by the crew of a tugboat who mistook them for survivors of a capsized boat. The inmates took knives from the tug's galley and forced the boat's captain to take them to the Tiffany Street pier in the Bronx.

They were identified as William Grebbins, 33, of Manhattan, and Peter Narducci, 43, and Anthony Russo, 27, both of Queens.

The inmates of the jail are men who have been sentenced and are awaiting either the disposition of their cases or transfer to another penal facility.

Sims was awaiting trial on murder charges. Grebbins was given a prison sentence Monday of five to 15 years for robbery. Narducci was sentenced April 26 to serve 7½ to 15 years in prison for robbery and Russo was being held in $5,000 bail on robbery charges.

Two Awards for Newsday

NEW YORK (AP) — Pulitzer Prizes for national reporting have been awarded for stories revealing President Nixon's comparatively small income tax payments and a secret $200,000 contribution to his campaign fund.

James R. Polk of the Washington Star-News was honored for stories on the secret contributions by financier Robert L. Vesco.

Jack White of the Providence Journal-Bulletin won for his reporting on Nixon's taxes. The President since has made back tax payments.

Newsday of Garden City, Long Island, won the gold medal for meritorious service by a newspaper. It was honored for a series of stories tracing heroin traffic from Turkey to the New York area via France. Newsday's Emily Genauer won the Pulitzer award for art criticism.

Associated Press photographer Slava Veder won the feature photography award with a picture of a former prisoner of war, Air Force Lt. Col. Robert L. Sturm being greeted by his family on his return to the United States.

Anthony K. Roberts, a freelance photographer whose pictures of a shootout in a Hollywood parking lot were distributed by The Associated Press, won the spot news photography award.

Hedrick Smith of The New York Times won the prize for international reporting for his coverage of the Soviet Union and Eastern European nations.

William Sherman of The New York Daily News won the Pulitzer for investigative local reporting for a series of stories on abuses in the Medicaid program.

No prizes for drama or fiction were included in the Other arts awards went to the late Ernest Becker for "The Denial of Death" in the general nonfiction category and Donald Martino, who won the music award for "Notturno," a chamber music composition. Composer Roger Sessions, 77, received a special citation for his life's work.

The awards, each accompanied by a $1,000 prize, were established by the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer and first presented in 1917.

Juries in each category first make recommendations to the advisory board, composed of the president of Columbia University and distinguished newspaper editors and publishers.

The last time no drama award was presented was in 1972: the last year in which there was no fiction award was 1971.

"To try and sort of give a rehash in terms of attitudes or views, if people would feel that that would be necessary, I think is—would be questionable," he said.

"But, in any event, we'd have to deal with it when it came," Kennedy said.

Asked, "Would you, deep down, like to be president?" Kennedy replied: "Yes."

Appearing on "Washington Straight Talk," a national public affairs broadcasting program, Kennedy also was asked about the 1969 Chappaquiddick accident, in which his car fell off a bridge and Mary Jo Kopechne was killed.

Interviewer Paul Duke asked if Watergate meant that more attention would be focused on this if Kennedy were the Democratic presidential nominee.

"There will probably be those, if I were a candidate, that would raise it," Kennedy said. "If he runs it is something that will have to be faced, he said."

"But people finally and ultimately are going to have to make judgments about my views, my record in the Senate," he said.

"Wouldn't you have to explain certain things, for example why it took you seven days to happen an explanation for what happened at Chappaquiddick?" Duke asked.

Kennedy said the record "has been really laid out.... There's not going to be any more facts that are going to come out. They've been out."

Mideast Fighting Continues

By United Press International
Syrian and Israeli forces went into the ninth week of their Golan Heights war of attrition today with artillery duels for control of strategic Mt. Hermon.

A military communique in Damascus said the pre-dawn clashes on 9,232-foot Mt. Hermon, which looks down on Israel, Syria and Lebanon, "extended to other parts of the front" during the morning.

The Tel Aviv military command reported shelling by Syrian field guns against Israeli positions in the Golan Heights northern section, which includes Mt. Hermon.

With the fighting in its 67th day, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger arrived in Cyprus to discuss Golan Heights troops pullbacks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

In Jerusalem, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Monday "it's hard to point to real progress in the negotiations with the Syrians."

Syrian Defense Minister Mustafa Tlas visited his troops on Mt. Hermon Monday night and praised their "heroic steadfastness," the official Syrian Arab News Agency reported.

Israel reported shooting down one of four Syrian warplanes on a strafing mission Monday. Syria reported downing four Israeli jets. Both nations denied any losses.

On the ground, Syria said its artillery knocked out three Israeli anti-tank rocket bases, a field artillery gun and an ammunition depot. Israel reported one of its soldiers killed by artillery.

Military correspondents in Tel Aviv said Israel has stiffened terms for troop separation and may now want to keep some strategic positions captured in the 1973 Middle East War in exchange for returning less vital areas taken in 1967.

The correspondents said Israel might give up some of its positions on Mt. Hermon to members of a U.N. Emergency Force, but not to the Syrians.

The Tel Aviv newspaper Ha'aretz said Kissinger was supporting a Syrian demand for Israeli withdrawal from hills surrounding the old Golan Heights capital of Quneitra in addition to pulling out of the town itself.
